Express Train on the Rock Island Is Wrecked at Norris, Iowa.

EXPRESS LEFT TRACK AND STRUCK A FREIGHT

Train Going at Full Speed When It Flew the Rails and Struck Freight Which Was Standing on a Siding.

Waterloo, Iowa, September 6.—Twelve persons were killed and twelve injured in the wreck of an express train on the Rock Island railroad at Norris, Iowa, today. The train, which was north-bound, jumped the track while going at full speed and collided with a freight train standing on a siding.

The Dead.

P. B. OLIVER, Waterloo, Iowa.
WILLIAM GOODMAN, Waterloo, Ia.
JOHN N. WATSON, Waterloo, Ia.
C. L. LANDPHERE, Shell Rock, Ia.
W. R. JOHNSON, Dike, Ia.
B. R. CHRISTY, Minneapolis.
LEPOVAN TOJA, Hammond, Ind.
LABORER, name unknown, Hammond, Ind.
W. H. MYERS, baggage man, Burlington, Wis.
THREE UNIDENTIFIED MEN.
Three of the injured may die.

Came at Terrific Speed.

The northbound express was ten minutes late at Norris siding, a small station 3 miles north of Cedar Falls, and there the freight was waiting the express, which came along at a terrific speed. Just as the engine of the passenger was about to pass the freight engine the trucks of the train jumped the track and the engine crashed into the engine of the freight, wrecking both engines and telescoping the baggage and mail cars and demolishing the smoking car.

Temple, Tex., September 6.—Fifty people were injured at Holland this afternoon when the boiler in a gin owned by Sam H. Barton exploded. Sam, Hill and Blake Barton were seriously injured. All three are sons of the owner of the gin. Blake Barton is not expected to live. Many of the injured were farmers and patrons of the gin.

There were hundreds of wagons waiting to have cotton handled, and farmers from all over the county were at the gin. When the boiler burst, flying debris struck the waiting men and caused horses to stampede. Doctors were sent from Temple in automobiles to attend the injured.

BONAPARTE AND MORRISON.

Held Conference, But Nothing Is Decided Regarding It.
Boston, Mass., September 6.—Attorney General Bonaparte left this city this evening for Mount Desert, Maine, but previous to his departure he had a brief conference with former Assistant Attorney General Morrison. Neither the attorney general nor Mr. Morrison would disclose the nature of the conference. Morrison gathered the evidence in the case against the Standard Oil company, which was tried in Chicago, and which resulted in the imposition of the $25,000,000 fine.

It is understood that the conference renewed that of last night which Mr. Morrison and Mr. Bonaparte had over the telephone in regard to the reported promise of immunity of the Chicago and Alton railroad in relation to the Standard Oil case.

TO CHECK THE BUBONIC PLAGUE.

Marine Hospital Service to Take Charge at San Francisco.
San Francisco, September 6.—The board of health today recommended to the board of supervisors that the city and county hospital which has sheltered a number of plague cases be burned. The city and county hospital is a collection of frame buildings and it has long been planned to demolish it. The announcement that the marine hospital service is to take charge of the plague situation is regarded here as an assurance that progress of the disease will be stopped in short order.

FARMERS TO RALLY AT ROYSTON.

Prominent Georgians Will Visit the Gathering on September 20.
Royston, Ga., September 6.—(Special.) On September 20 the farmers of north-west Georgia will hold a big rally at Royston.

Hon. Seaborn Wright, of Rome, will be the principal speaker of the day, followed by Hon. W. M. Howard, of Lexington, and member of congress from the eighth congressional district. Hon. F. B. Doyle, of Royston, will deliver the address of welcome and Colonel T. G. Dorough will introduce Mr. Wright.

A large crowd is expected and will no doubt be present. Dinner will be eaten on the grounds and the ladies from the country are invited to come and bring baskets.

The speaking will take place in Baker's grove, an ideal place for such a gathering.

Strike Is Injuring Trade.

Antwerp, September 6.—The delay in reaching a settlement of the strike of longshoremen is affecting the trade with American ports, and each day the situation grows worse. The loss to general trade so far has been alarming and industries throughout the country will be seriously hampered until the strike is settled.

DEAD SILENCE GIVEN CADET BY COMRADES

Cruel Punishment is Being Inflicted on "Plebe" at West Point.

THREAT MADE TO DISMISS TORMENTORS OF "PLEBE"

So Far as Human Compassion Is Concerned, the Cadet Receiving "Silent Treatment" Might Just as Well Be on a Desert Isle.

New York, September 6.—The "silent treatment" of a plebe at West Point, it is stated in dispatches received here, has resulted in a clash between the plebe class and the commandant of the military academy, Colonel Robert Lee Howse, which threatens to deplete the supply of the United States army officers four years hence, for Colonel Howse issued an order two days ago to the effect that unless the cadet was relieved entirely of the "silent treatment" he would dishonorably discharge the entire class.

Because He Complained.

A cadet, the son of a wealthy Chicago man, is the young man around whom the trouble centers. He is a plebe, and, it is stated, received the "silent treatment," not only from his own class, but from the cadets in the other classes, because of a complaint that is alleged to have been made when he was mildly hazed by a fellow classman. The treatment accorded the cadet reached the commandant by some means and caused him to threaten the dismissal of the class unless the cadet stopped. The cadet, it is understood, has determined to remain firm in his attitude, so that interesting developments are likely.

Howse Exceeded His Power.

Washington, September 6.—If Colonel Howse, commandant of cadets at West Point, has threatened to dismiss a whole class because the members had sent one of their members to "Coventry," he has exceeded his authority, according to the officials of the war department, for the power of dismissal in such cases is not conferred on any official of lower rank than the president himself. The extent of the commandant's powers in such cases would be temporarily to suspend the offending cadets and to recommend dismissal to the superintendent of the academy, Colonel Scott, and then, in turn, to the secretary of war and the president.

MAKING UP LOSS IN LICENSES.

Valdosta Council Cuts Expenses to Meet Threatened Shortage.

Valdosta, Ga., September 6.—Retrenchment was the slogan at the meeting of the city council Wednesday evening, and the city was applied vigorously in a number of departments. Two members of the fire department were laid off, three heads fell in the street department, Chief of Police Damper's salary was reduced from $125 per month to $112.50. Street Superintendent McKenna and City Sexton Giddens came in for a reduction of salary, and the office of recorder was abolished.

The action of council at this meeting was due to a threatened deficiency of something like $25,000 in the city's revenues. Part of this amount is in the $10,000 for liquor licenses due in November, but which, of course, will not be collected this year, as the county adopted prohibition two months ago. Realization of the license is estimated that there will be a decrease of probably $4,000 in recorder's fees for the next year. The present council also had to pay $13,000 for improvements at the waterworks, and recently had to pay a damage suit against the city for $2,000. In addition to the saving in the various departments, which will be effected by a lowering of salaries, etc., it is understood that the tax assessors will put a higher value on all properties next year and that special efforts will be made to locate those property holders who have not heretofore given in their property for its worth.

LARCENY CHARGE IS MADE

Against Thomas McGarrath, a Prominent Young Man of Columbus.
Columbus, Ga., September 6.—(Special.) Thomas A. McGarrath, a well known young man of this city, and a member of a prominent Georgia family, has been arrested on a warrant sworn out by Manager Hugh Baird, of the Empire Mills company, charging larceny after trust.

McGarrath was in the employ of the company until recently, and it is charged that he was $300 short in his accounts. He made bond this afternoon, and it is stated that the matter will be satisfactorily adjusted in the course of the next few days.

MANY ENTER WAKE FOREST.

New Year Starts With the Largest Enrollment in Years.
Wake Forest, N. C., September 6.—(Special.)—Wake Forest college began its seventy-third session Tuesday. The students enrolled up to tonight were 278—28 more than were matriculated on corresponding date of last season. Realizing the need of a new dormitory, the trustees at a recent meeting in Raleigh, decided to erect a $300,000 building, equipped with all modern conveniences, to accommodate 150 men. Prospects for ball teams and tennis this year are splendid.

PUMP AFFINITY EASILY DEFEATS SLENDER WIFE

New York Still Talking About Artist Earle, His Wife and His Affinity.

WIFE LOVES HER HUSBAND BUT GIVES HIM TO AFFINITY

Earle Says When He Discovered
That Miss Kutner Was His Affinity
There Was Nothing to Do but Discard the Mother of His Child.

New York, September 6.—(Special.)—George Bernard Shaw has been eclipsed. Ferdinand Pinney Earle, the artist, who has sent his wife to France, where she will secure a divorce so that he may be free to wed his affinity, Miss Julia Kutner. Yesterday Mrs. Earle and her young son sailed for France, Artist Earle seeing them off and kissing his wife good-bye. Then he returned to his handsome home in Monroe, N. Y., where he has housed his affinity pending the wedding that is to follow his wife's divorce.

Wife Doesn't Object.

The strangest feature of the affair is that Mrs. Earle, although a mother of a child by Earle and professing to love him, seemed to be entirely satisfied. For several weeks Miss Kutner, the affinity, has been at the home of the Earles and she and the wife, who is to be discarded, seemed fond of each other. Miss Kutner seemed especially fond of Mrs. Earle's little boy. Miss Kutner was formerly of Bethlehem, Pa., and is well known as a worker in the socialist cause. She is as dark and plump as Mrs. Earle is blonde and slender.

Earle caught the socialism when he was young, and being now less than thirty years old, hasn't yet outgrown it, or doesn't fully understand it, whichever you please. He is tall and rather athletic, with a bronzed face, the result of open-air life, and a French beard. Earle comes from the Earle family that made several millions in the hotel business in past years in New York. He is the only one of the family that every fell victim to the artistic temperament.

Earle a Fool, Says Uncle.

Certainly his uncle, E. M. Earle, also an old hotel man, hasn't it. This hopelessly practical and mundane man when informed of his nephew's act, said: "I'm well. I always thought that nephew of mine was a damned fool. Now I know it." It was just after he had finished his art studies about five years ago, that met his wife in Austria. Her maiden name was Flisbach, Emil Flisbach, and they loved at first sight, though that has all been proven wrong since by way of the "affinity" theory. As Earle will tell you himself he and his first wife were married before they were born, and therefore it was predestined to turn out just as it has happened.

"It is not true that I believe in free love," said this extraordinary young man last night. "Nor have I ever said anything about the freedom of love. What I do aver, is that there must needs be more freedom in marriage, for the sake of the race. As at present constituted, the marriage regulations are all wrong. I thought long and earnestly over this matter before deciding to take the step."

Wife Not His Affinity.

"Did you consider your wife when you took it?" was asked. "I would have been a cad if I had not," was the non-committal confession. "You see," he continued, "I believe in happiness and that is what I am seeking. I believe that before we were born we were mated with our affinity. In this case I discovered after a while that my wife was not my affinity. In the meantime I had met Miss Kutner. I had known her a long while. I had been associated with her in socialistic work, in which I am greatly interested, and last June, while we were in Paris, the psychological moment having arrived, we discovered that we had been mated before our birth, and, of course, after that there was no course to be pursued than the one I am following now."

It is said that Mrs. Earle is exceedingly glad to be rid of her spouse, that she loved him dearly until he made his blunt and brutal proposition, whereat her love died, and she is now making full display of her pride in the manner he calculated to show to the world how little worth while it is to hold the love of a man who has affinities, namely, by cheerfully agreeing to all of his propositions.

Mrs. Earle's Story.

"After our marriage," said Mrs. Earle, "my husband and I loved each other dearly, but as time went on we gradually found that we were not suited to each other. Mr. Earle believed that marriages were prearranged; that they were made before birth, and that if two people were not intended by divine power for each other they would never be happy. Both he and I plainly saw that such was not the condition in our case, and we agreed to become divorced. So now I am going home to my family in France. Mr. Earle will remain here and as soon as our divorce is accomplished he will marry the other woman."

Earle and the wife he has discarded were married in France by Rev. Charles Wagner, the author of the "Simple Life."

Earle's Views on Love and Marriage.

Mr. Earle has crystallized his views on marriage and love in a poem. Here is part of it:

"Love's purest spring is memory's gratitude

"BRIGHT EYES" FAILED WOMAN

Little Spook Refused to Aid
Mrs. Pepper-Vanderbilt

BRIGHT EYES OUT OF WORLD

But Mrs. Vanderbilt Says Her Body
Is Tied by Spook—Bright Eyes
Once Had the Aged Vanderbilt on the Phone.

New York, September 6.—Mrs. May S. Pepper-Vanderbilt, leader of spiritualists, appeared as a witness again today in the inquest proceeding brought against her husband, Edward W. Vanderbilt, by his daughter, Minerva Vanderbilt. Mrs. Vanderbilt had previously testified that under the control of a spirit—"Bright Eyes"—she was able to read unopened letters and learn secrets unknown to the lay mind.

She Couldn't Read Letter.

Today Mrs. Vanderbilt was challenged by counsel for Miss Vanderbilt to read unopened a sealed letter which he handed her. Counsel for Mrs. Vanderbilt protested against the question, but Commissioner Ketchum held that it was material, for if Mrs. Vanderbilt could read the letter through the aid of the unseen "Bright Eyes" it would clear up all the questions in the case. The letter was handed to the witness.

"I cannot read it," said Mrs. Vanderbilt. "I am not under the control of Bright Eyes now."

"Do you know Bright Eyes?" was asked. "I can't say I ever met her. I heard of her in 1885."

"What Is Bright Eyes?" asked the lawyer.

"Bright Eyes is supposed to be an individual who existed in this world and passed over to another plane of life. She used my body to communicate, as other spirits use mortals in the spiritualistic field."

Bright Eyes and the Phone.

"Who told you that?" "Probably two thousand persons," the witness replied.

"Did you ever hear of Bright Eyes holding conversations with your husband over the telephone?" "We have been informed by others that on one occasion I was talking over the telephone to Mr. Vanderbilt when I became unconscious, and at once Bright Eyes began talking over the telephone."

The witness denied that she ever used any undue influence over Vanderbilt. Mrs. Vanderbilt declared that she did not know that Vanderbilt had a wife living when she married him.

"Bright Eyes" is alleged to have had undue influence over Mr. Vanderbilt in causing him to transfer the bulk of his estate to his second wife.

Snow Released on Bond.

Hartwell, Ga., September 6.—(Special.) J. Vance Snow, a prominent young Hart county farmer, who has been confined in jail for the last five months, was released yesterday by Judge Horace M. Holden, of the northern circuit, under a $3,000 bail.

Snow has been quite sick for some time with pleurisy and was considered dangerous to life for fear he would be confined in jail. The crime for which Snow was placed in jail was the killing of his younger brother, Columbus Snow.

From the last tear upon its seaborne food.

From out the spirit's leaping altitude,
On from the bosom's deep beatitude,
Up rising like the water lily bud,
Up rising white, though nurtured in common clay and mud,
The river of true marriage is renewed,
Its countless brooklets rise as in a dream
And now beyond the heights of youth,
Some driven in mighty tumult by strange passion;
Some led through winding fairyland,
Fondly each dream cleaves to its own attitude
Until the last sweet drop is sucked to heaven."

ROOSEVELT TO USE JAVELIN IN HUNTING WILD BOARS

Houston, Tex., September 6.—Reports from San Antonio today state that a wild boar hunt with javelins instead of rifles is being planned for President Roosevelt. As an experiment, a hunt with javelins will shortly be made in the district south of San Antonio. Several of President Roosevelt's acquaintances expect to take part in the hunt, and they are authority for the statement that if the sport with the primitive weapons proves good, the president has promised to join in a hunt during his coming southern and western tour.

GIRL SERVED 16 YEARS IN PEN FOR CRIME SHE DID NOT COMMIT

Madison, Wis., September 6.—With every possible indication that she was not guilty of the crime of murder for which she has already served 16 years of a life sentence, Wilhelmina Bach was released from Waupun prison today. Her life sentence for the murder of Michale Sell was commuted by Governor Davidson. She went to the penitentiary when she was 17 years old.

PLETHORA OF MILLIONAIRES MAKES THE COUNTRY TIRED

Portland, Ore., September 6.—Secretary of War William H. Taft, en route to the Philippines, spent today in Portland. Speaking at a luncheon, Mr. Taft stated that he is firmly convinced that the country is tired of the plethora of millionaires and of their influence and that it has been demonstrated that the business of the nation should be run on the principle of special privilege to none, be he rich or poor. That, he said, had been the principle of the present administration and it would be with the republican administrations yet to come.

The guests, after waiting over an hour organized a searching party, and on the way to the young man's home found his dead body, still warm, with a rope tied about his neck. A negro who was trying to sell the victim's horse, was arrested a few hours later several miles from the city.

WILL OF RICHARD MANSFIELD. Everything Left to Wife—Personal Property Valued at $10,000.

New York, September 6.—The will of Richard Mansfield, who died a week ago, was filed for probate today. It leaves all the property, real and personal, to his widow, Susan Hageman Mansfield, and also appoints her executrix. Mrs. Mansfield was known to the theatrical going public as Desdemona Cameron. Her attorney stated today that the personal property of the estate amounted to $10,000 and that there was no real estate. Mr. Mansfield deeded his real estate to his wife when he bought it.

CITY'S WATER PURE AND GOOD, SAYS DR. SMITH

Important Report Made to the Board of Health by City Chemist.

IT IS MUCH BETTER THAN SPRING WATER

City Chemist and Bacteriologist Analyzes Water Used by City and His Report Shows That It Is Pure and Healthful
to Drink.

Dr. Claude A. Smith, city bacteriologist and chemist, made a report to the board of health yesterday afternoon on the condition of the water pumped from the river for the use of the city. He said that never before since the river water has been used has it been as pure and as free from bacteria. He declared that it is pure for drinking purposes, and that the water from any spring around the city.

A short while ago, after the citizens were forced to drink muddy water for a few days, the board of health requested Dr. Smith to analyze the water and make a report on its purity. Dr. Smith stated yesterday afternoon that he had made thorough tests of samples of water taken from the river, the reservoir and from the clear water basin after it had been filtered.

Says Water Is Pure.

"I find the water as now pumped into the city from the clear water basin," stated Dr. Smith, "purer than it has ever been. The number of bacteria per cubic centimetre is comparatively very small. There are not enough to produce any bad effect on the water. I consider the water purer and better for drinking purposes than that from any spring around or near the city. Of course, the water taken from the river station before it is filtered is not as pure, but even that makes a good showing. Since the agitation over the muddy water which was recently pumped into the city I have made several tests and I find by analysis that the number of bacteria per centimetre has steadily decreased. The filtration system in use by the city now gives water that can be considered pure and there can be, in my opinion, no ill effects from its use."

The board of health asked that this report of Dr. Smith be published, as there had gone out a rumor that the water was not pure and was causing some sickness.

Dr. Smith is one of the most careful and most reliable chemists and bacteriologists in the state and his report, the members of the board of health declared, can be absolutely relied upon.

"Please tell the good news to the people of Atlanta," said President Brandon to a representative of The Constitution, "for it will indeed be good news to know that Atlanta's good, pure water now, as she has always had and ever will have."

Chief of Carriers Forced to Quit
By Roosevelt

ALLEGED HOLLAND LOBBIED

Carriers Will Elect Another President and Will Give $10,000 to Holland, Who Will Resign
His Government Position
in Boston.

Canton, Ohio, September 6.—President Holland, of the National Letter Carriers' Association, announced to the national convention today that he would not be a candidate for reelection.
This step was taken in response to an expressed wish of the postal department
as outlined in an address before the convention by First Assistant Postmaster General Hitchcock. It was charged that Holland had gone to Washington to lobby for the carriers, after having been requested by the president not to do so.

The convention today voted to pay
Holland $10,000. Of this amount, $5,000 is to be paid at once and the remaining $5,000 within six years.
"This action is taken to mean that Holland will voluntarily resign on or before August next as a Boston mail carrier."

States, where he collected a large amount of money for the Polish nationalist schools,
has been banished from the empire for "se-ditional activities," and the money intended for the schools has been confiscated.

Hospital Investigation Continued.
Fuscalousa, Ala., September 6.—(Special.)—The hospital committee of investigation met again at 9 o'clock at the hospital building. All of the testimony was that of witnesses summoned in behalf of the hospital. The nurses examined were all those now engaged at the institution, and all were intelligent and trustworthy men. During the investigation it developed that the Bryce institution is a tremendous institution and that the system and care taken were of the very best character, and that the management of such an institution is by no means a small matter. Quite a number of questions were asked in regard to existing conditions and any possible improvement that might be made in the management. It was proven in almost every case that the authorities had solved the best possible manner of conducting the hospital as a whole.

Chairman Dillingham Tells of Result of Tour.

New York, September 6.—After several months' tour of inquiry into the immigration situation abroad, which carried them through England and continental Europe, most of the members of the subcommittee of the United States immigration commission, with Senator William P. Dillingham of Vermont, as chairman, arrived here today
on board the steamship Cedric.

The members of the commission returning today were Senator Dillingham
of Vermont, Senator Latimer of South Carolina, Congressman Howell of New Jersey, Burnette of Alabama and Secretary Moore Morton.
The members obtained data which they believe will aid in solving many of the immigration problems now confronting the United States. The whole committee will meet later and prepare a report, which will be submitted to congress.

Statement by Chairman.

Senator Dillingham made the following statement today:
"The subcommittee has visited every European country from which we receive any considerable number of immigrants, and has studied the more important phases of the question in each.
"The question of preventing the coming of criminals into the United States has been a chief subject of investigation by the subcommittee, and it is probable that important recommendations on this matter will be made to congress.
"The subject of emigration is a paramount one in most of the countries we have visited, and in most of them the attitude toward emigration is not favorable. The constant and long-continued drain upon the rural population, from which class the great majority of emigrants come, and the general prosperity which now prevails
has produced a scarcity of farm labor,
and it is claimed the agricultural industry is suffering in consequence.

Europe Opposes Emigration.

"Because of this scarcity of labor,
the condition of those remaining at home has, to a degree, been improved,
but the general condition is causing much alarm among land owners, and a strong sentiment against emigration has developed.
"A very large proportion of male emigrants leave their native country
at a time when they are liable to military service there, and this constitutes a strong objection to some emigrants.
"During the tour of inquiry and investigation, the commissioners have secured important information, and have made arrangements to secure more, and feel confident that before their work is completed recommendations can be made congress which will be of value and importance."

FARMERS LEAVE FOR HOME

Meeting Was a Great Success, and Delegates From Florida to Washington Were Well Pleased With the Outcome of Important Matters.

Little Rock, Ark., September 6.—Amid songs of joy, cheers, happy wishes and Godspeed, the third annual convention of the National Farmers' Union came to a close yesterday afternoon.

The great convention that meant so much to the farmers of America had passed into history, but its effort will be felt for years to come.

The delegates bade farewell and started for their homes, from California to North Carolina, and from Florida to the state of Washington.

One of the last acts of the convention was the fixing of the minimum price of cotton seed, which was $20 per ton.
Delegates from Georgia and Texas left for Hot Springs, to spend today sightseeing.

COURTS SOUGHT

Judge Adams is Called to
New York for Conference.

IT IS UP TO THE CENTRAL

Now a Certainty That Hard Contest
Will Be Fought for Interest on Second and Third Unless Money Is Quickly Paid.

Savannah, Ga., September 6.—(Special.)
The New York holders of the income bonds of the Central railroad are very much in earnest regarding their proposed litigation because of the failure of the road to pay full interest on the second and any interest at all on third.

Yesterday they summoned Judge S. B.
Adams to New York, where a conference with the local counsel will be held.
Judge Adams left last night and tomorrow will meet his clients in New York, where the question will be thoroughly gone into.

It may be said for a certainty that the failure to pay the dividends will be followed by a long and hard fought contest in the courts. Judge Adams has had a great deal to do with the property in one way or another for many years.

New Orleans, September 6.—The finding of a man's body in a box in the Mississippi river about 70 miles north of New Orleans was reported here today by an incoming packet steamer. The body bore marks suggesting a cruel murder, but was in such a condition as to make a medical examination necessary to determine the cause of death.
The body was buried near the river bank where found.

Great excitement was produced by the report of finding this body, which arrived a few hours after the police had begun to search for Peter Lamana, reported missing for over a week. Lamana is the father of the Italian boy who was kidnapped and strangled last June and following the trial of whose murderers the state troops were called out to prevent lynching.

The police had prepared to exume
the body found in the box when an acquaintance of Lamana told them that Lamana had just returned from St.
Louis, Mrs. Lamana reported her husband's disappearance to the police.

Standard and Railroads Are In-

Jamestown, N. Y., September 6.—An investigation which was begun by the federal grand jury in this city early in July was concluded today. The jury found four indictments, one each against the Standard Oil Company, the New York Central railroad, the Pennsylvania railroad and one against two railroad agents. The indictments charge the accepting or granting of rebates on all shipments from Olean to points in Vermont. In August the same jury returned similar indictments against the same concerns.

after he had been nine years away from them; but before the evening had passed the boy was once more free of parental solitude, and had "hit the road" anew. It remains to be seen whether he can again be enticed under the paternal roof, and then if he can be persuaded to stay there.

GORGEOUS BILL POSTER CAUSED HER TO ESCAPE

One Sophie Johnson, a damsel who has flown high in Darktown social circles, was languishing in the city stockade. It was certain that she was languishing because she had been sent there for four months, or 120 days, and had still seventy-seven days to serve.

Sophie had got on one drunk which developed three fights and she was given thirty days for each offense. As she pined away in prison she knew that the watermelon season was slipping away. Thanksgiving day was coming and the last days of corn liquor and beer were going fast. So she pined.

But the pining soul of Sophie Johnson might have withstood all the sweetness of life that were not hers, if her eyes had not beheld a bill poster. That was her undoing. Her fortitude broke down and the wild struggle for freedom overcame her heroism.

She saw a Gorgeous Picture. One day Sophie was sent out to wait on a gang of city convicts. On her way to where the squad was working she saw a flaring picture on a billboard. It was a gorgeous picture of Buffalo Bill, and beneath the long-haired son of wild west fame, as he sat on a bucking broncho, large, tantalizing blue letters announced that Bill and his aggregation would be here on October 7.

That was too much for Sophie. She calculated that she would still be a prisoner on that eventful day.

"Hear I is," he soliloquized, "an' hyar I see gwine ter be when dat big wild west show gits hyar. Hit haint right ter keep er more nigger perlin' de bars at sech er time."

Great Resolve in Her Soul. Then Sophie arose with a great resolve in her soul. She would escape. And she did. She slipped into a stretch of woods and made quick time to the city.

Once more in Darktown she undertook to disguise herself. She put on a wig, washed her face and went out defying the police to recognize her. All would have gone well, but Sophie got into a fresh fight. Her wig was knocked off and her face took on its old-time color.

She was detected and yesterday morning she was haled before the acting recorder, Councilman Press Huddleston.

When asked why she had escaped, Sophie replied: "Because I jes' had ter see dat wild west show. Dat pictur' was too much fer dis nigger, Mister Jedge."

The acting recorder gave Sophie an extra sentence of thirty days. She now has 107 days to serve, and she will not see Buffalo Bill.

PRICE OF COAL TAKES A JUMP

Dealers Say Switching Charges of Southern Is Responsible.

TWO SIDES OF THE STORY

Southern Officials Claim the 35 Cent Charge Is Due to the Attitude of the L. & N. in Refusing to Handle Its Cars.

Thirty-five cents a ton is being charged by the Southern railway against the Louisville and Nashville railroad for every ton of coal switched in Atlanta from the tracks of the Louisville and Nashville to the coal yards on the Southern tracks.

This amounts to about $15.50 a carload. The Louisville and Nashville officials state that this rate is too high for them to pay and must come from the consignee. The coal dealers attribute this as the reason for the increase in the price of coal soon to be announced.

The Southern railway officials state that this cost is the local freight rate for intrastate shipments, and it is done as a retaliatory policy for the way the Louisville and Nashville system treats the Southern and all other systems in Louisville.

The cost of switching a car of freight, coal or anything else, within the city of Atlanta from the Central to the Southern, the Atlanta and West Point to the Southern, etc., is $2.

The Southern officials state that the Louisville and Nashville will not switch cars for them at any price.

The Louisville and Nashville officials state that they have received no orders not to switch.

And there you are. In the meanwhile the dear public is paying the freight.

The Southern officials state that there are plenty of good coal yards on the Southern; there are plenty of coal mines reached by the Southern, and that coal dealers are simply using this freight rate story as a blind to cover the usual September rise in the price of coal.

The officials of the Southern state that they were driven from soliciting business from certain manufacturers in Louisville because the Louisville and Nashville railroad refused to deliver any Southern cars to these manufacturers.

"We have lost $2,000,000," said a prominent Southern freight official, in commenting on this warfare, "because the Louisville and Nashville would not handle our cars there. It is simply a matter of protecting ourselves that we adopt the same policy here. We exchange courtesies with those who exchange with us, that is all there is to it."

In the meanwhile the coal consumer pays the 35 cents freight.

REFORM COSTS MUCH.

Tax Rate in Savannah Is to Be Raised.

Savannah, Ga., September 6.—(Special.)—The present city administration was elected upon what was denominated a reform platform. Reform seems in a fair way to cost Savannah, as it cost the state, a rise in the tax rate. This, however, has been largely due to the passage of the state prohibition law, which will mean the cutting off of $60,000 of the city's revenue. This is the amount which has poured into the city treasury each year from the saloon licenses.

The increase in the tax rate will probably be half a cent, carrying it up to $1.45. It was this figure in 1906, the last administration having lowered it just before the municipal election.

THIRTY THOUSAND TELEGRAPH OPERATORS WANTED

Congress having passed a bill requiring railroad companies not to work telegraph operators more than nine hours a day, about THIRTY THOUSAND more telegraph operators than can be secured will be needed AT ONCE. Salaries have been increased.

Draughton's Practical Business College, 122 Peachtree, has established a Telegraphy Department. Railway wires have been cut into this College, giving students main-line practice. A practical telegraph operator of many years' experience is employed as teacher. The first twenty-five students who enroll with Draughton for Telegraphy, presenting this notice, will be allowed to pay $25 of tuition AFTER course is completed and POSITION IS SECURED.

COTTON PRICE MAKES TROUBLE

Division Results in Southern Cotton Association Committee at Jackson.

Jackson, Miss., September 6.—(Special.)—The executive committee of the Southern Cotton Association met here yesterday, with all states represented. Routine business consumed the opening hours of the session.

It was thought that the committee would determine on 15 cents a pound as the minimum, but there has developed a disagreement among the committee-men over this point, some contending that 15 cents is too high and that the members will not hold out for that price. The opposition has suggested 13 cents as a fair price and one for which the growers can afford to hold.

President Harvie Jordan is presiding at the session. General Organizer M. D. Smith and President Clark, of the Mississippi division, are scheduled for addresses today. The business of the committee will be completed this afternoon. It is thought.

Bryan will be present and will deliver one of the principal speeches of the evening.

HE FAILED IN IMITATING TELL. Boy Points Rifle at Cousin's Head. Sends Bullet in Brain.

Pottsville, September 6.—William Burke, while at play with his little cousin, Bennie Hyer, was fatally shot by a Florent rifle which the child held. Bennie, attempting to emulate William Tell, playfully pointed the weapon at Burke's head. It was a hair trigger and almost before the boy was aware of it the piece was discharged. The bullet penetrated the forehead and lodged in Burke's brain. His death is momentarily expected.

DECATUR'S MEN BETTER THAN ITS WOMEN, SAYS PREACHER

Decatur, Ala., September 6.—(Special.)—According to the Rev. Bob Jones, the men of the Decatur have come to be more religiously inclined than are the women of the two cities. This is what he told the congregation last night at the revival tent meeting which he is holding in New Decatur. He said that five women and three men were standing on a street corner in New Decatur, debating the question as to whether they would go to church or to the show at the Casino at Oakland park. The women, he said, wanted to go to the show, while the three men wanted to go to the tent meeting. Whether the men or the women won was not stated.

FOR THE FIRST TIME IN HISTORY

Lord Chancellor Leaves Britain. He's Bound for Canada.

London, September 6.—The lord chancellor, Lord Loreburn, sailed for Canada today. He will visit Niagara and possibly New York. This is the first occasion on which a lord chancellor has left the United Kingdom. The law forbids that the great seal, of which he is the custodian, be taken out of the country. It is supposed to be constantly kept in his personal custody, but Lord Loreburn has arranged for safeguarding the seal during his absence.

THEY CLAMOR FOR A DIVIDEND.

Stockholders May Take Gotham Street Railway Into Court.

New York, September 6.—The directors of the New York City Railway Company met today but took no action on the quarterly dividend on the stock of the Metropolitan Street Railway Company. The stock is 7 per cent guaranteed and several stockholders have threatened to take the company into court unless it was paid. The next dividend is not due until October 15, and it is said that the directors will take no action with regard to the dividends until later.

Perry New Notes.

Perry, Ga., September 6.—(Special.)—Perry public school opened with a large attendance. Professor F. M. Green, principal, and Misses Laura Graham, Anna Foster and Lizzie Daniels, assistants. Misses Graham and Foster are from north Georgia. The county yesterday fixed the tax rate for Houston at 6 1-2 mills; total state and county 11.50. The past two weeks have told on the cotton crop. It is badly injured. It is opening rapidly and being hurried to market, selling at 13 cents. Good rains have fallen here for the past two or three days, which have improved the condition of cotton considerably. The crop is out off some.

Randolph Tax Rate Reduced.

Cuthbert, Ga., September 6.—(Special.)—The county commissioners of this county reduced the tax rate two mills at their meeting Tuesday, the state and county rate this year being $11 on the $1,000 instead of $12 as last year. Two mills of the present levy is for local county school tax, under which the county is working. The commissioners had an increase in taxable values this year over last, but instead of following what seems to be a popular fad—"increased values, increased taxes"—they reversed the order by decreasing the rate.

KILLED BY WIFE

by Phillips Tragedy.*EX-EMPLOYEE IS SUSPECTED*Mrs. Phillips Now Says She Saw a Man in Front of Home Just After Her Husband Was Shot.
Woman Still Suffers
From Drags.

Cleveland, Ohio, September 6.—New theories, suspicions and developments in the mystery surrounding the death of John J. Phillips, coal operator and broker, followed each other in rapid succession today. A former employee is suspected of having caused the death of Phillips. His name is known to the officials and a search is being made for him.

Monday Phillips was shot and killed at his home in the eastern part of Cleveland. That day he was believed to have been killed by a burglar. Tuesday it was thought Phillips committed suicide. Wednesday this theory was disproved and suspicion was directed against the widow, Charlotte Phillips. A warrant alleging murder was issued for her arrest.

Thursday the officials began to doubt this theory and today search was begun for the man formerly employed about the Phillips home, whom Mrs. Phillips says she saw in front of her home just after her husband was shot.

James Dunn, Jr., Phillips' private secretary, says this man called at Phillips' office Tuesday morning. The object of his call was not disclosed by Dunn except to the officials, but he was to have returned Wednesday morning, Dunn says, but so far has not been seen since.

Mrs. Phillips' physical condition was in doubt today. The officials say she has recovered from her stupor, while members of the family say the woman is still suffering from the effect of the drug taken Monday afternoon.

MASONS LAID CORNERSTONEFor Court House of Turner County
at Ashburn, Ga.

Ashburn, Ga., September 6.—(Special.) The formal laying of the cornerstone of Turner county's new courthouse was conducted here yesterday under the auspices of the Masonic lodge, the local lodge being assisted by lodges from Tifton, Sylvester, Doles, Arabi, Cordele, Abbeville, Rebecca and Fitzgerald. There were fully 2,500 people present.

On account of the illness of Grand Master Max Meyerhardt, Deputy Grand Master T. H. Jeffries of Atlanta, was in charge of the ceremonies, assisted by Hon. Kent of Mount Vernon. A bountiful basket dinner and barbecue had been prepared, and after the formal ceremonies everybody was invited to the park, where Mr. Jeffries spoke for forty minutes, holding the large audience spellbound. At 2 o'clock Hon. J. M. Griggs was introduced, and spoke for an hour. His subject was "Law and Order."

TELEPHONES FOR PATIENTS.Hospital Will Have Telephonic Connection With Church.

Augusta, Ga., September 6.—(Special.) Next Sunday morning telephonic connections will be made between the First Presbyterian church of Augusta and the city hospital in order that the patients in the latter institution—those in bed and unable to move, as well as the convalescents—may have the opportunity of hearing the morning sermon by Rev. J. T. Plunkett.

Facing Dr. Plunkett's pulpit will be installed three immense disk transmitters, of the kind technically known as "theater transmitters," which will record perfectly not only the sermon, but the music of the choir and congregation, the solo and all audible incidents of the service.

At the hospital end of the line will be attached thirty or forty receivers of the "head phone" pattern, that is, receivers connected with a cap-like steel band which may be fitted on the head. These instruments will be available for all patients who desire to be present in spirit at the house of God.

MASKED BANDITS GO THRO' TRAIN*Passengers Were Forced to Empty Their Pockets.*POSSES ARE GIVING CHASE*But the Bandits Have a Long Start.
Robbers Were Passengers on the Train, and They Succeeded by Flashing Their Revolvers.

Omaha, September 6.—The Omaha and Texas express on the Rock Island was raided just before daylight this morning, near Murdock, by three masked men. The robbers went through the chair car, robbing every passenger, securing their pocketbooks, and escaped by leaping from the train.

Railroad detectives and sheriffs posse are in pursuit, but the robbers have several hours the start of the officers. The robbers were passengers on the train. Shortly after leaving Murdock the men arose in their seats and with revolvers in each hand covered the passengers. Then the leader ordered everybody to keep still and not to resist, else they would be shot.

Two men went down the aisle with hats in hand, while the third kept the passengers covered. All the passengers were ordered to throw their pocketbooks into the hats and this was done.

The conductor appeared in the car with a pistol in his hand, but was promptly covered with guns and forced to drop the revolver. After getting all the money in the car, the robbers jumped from the train, which had slowed down for a grade. An attempt was made to enter the sleeper, but the door was locked and the attempt was unsuccessful.

WORK ON ROAD TO BE PUSHED.
Right of Way for Georgia and Florida Being Selected.

Valdosta, Ga., September 6.—(Special.) Assistant Engineer J. W. Webster, of the Georgia and Florida Railroad, and Dr. W. B. Goodman, of Nashville, Ga., are in the city today arranging for the right of way for the railroad into the city. They drove through the country, following the proposed line, and closed up options for a considerable portion of the right of way. The road will likely enter the city on the eastern border, with a sharp curve to the south, where a junction will be effected with the Valdosta Southern to Madison, Fla.

Engineer Webster states that work on the gap from this city to Nashville will begin in a short while, but owing to the fact that nearly all the railway contractors in the country have about all the work they can handle now with their present equipment, it is impossible to state exactly when active work will begin. He states that both the contractors and promoters are a little chary of investments in railway building in view of the recent drastic railway legislation, but that there is no question of the building of the line from here to Nashville, which will be one of the most important links in the trunk line from Augusta to the coast.

TELEPHONE MEN STRIKE.Employees of Automatic Company
at Columbus Dissatisfied.

Columbus, Ga., September 6.—(Special.) Half a dozen employees of the Automatic Telephone company have left their places with the company because they are dissatisfied with the management. Saturday the manager dismissed the chief of the construction department and replaced him with another man. This caused the men in this department to be very much dissatisfied, and they have refused to work since. The service of the company is not being interfered with on account of the men being out.

The men's furnishing goods announcement takes on a tinge of autumn today. Looking fallward.

But intermingled with new things you'll find some reduced prices.

Not a thing against the garments we made specials of except that they are broken in the run of sizes.

In weight they are what we term intermediate—fall weights.

But as we say, sizes are missing.

Of course with you it doesn't matter how many sizes are gone if yours is here—certainly worth while to have a look.

And the new things—we believe we have gathered some exceptionally good values.

Having the whole market to pick from and no entangling alliances with any makers in particular, we'd be like scouts asleep on the trail did we not gather here the best specimens of underwear, hosiery, shirts and all the rest.

The experience of long years has been our teacher, and we have not been letting our bucket down into an empty well, you may be sure of that.

YELLOW SPIDER WRITES "ATLANTA" IN HIS WEB

SPIDER WEB CONTAINING THE WORD "ATLANTA"

There is a large yellow spider who lives in the back yard of a house located on the corner of Courtland avenue and East Baker street.

This spider is not remarkable in looks, though handsomer than the majority of his kind, but in his web weaving he has shown that he has a mind which has been well cultivated.

Finding this particular back yard to his fancy the spider started a web, and having completed the foundation and the outside appearance began to do a little decorating.

Realizing that Atlanta is symbolic of success the spider began to write that word on his web, and a few days ago completed a most acceptable spelling of the name.

The first half is better done than the second, the 'At' being particularly plain. The other four letters, however, are far better than many a man traces when writing to his best girl. In addition to the Atlanta, the spider has added the letters M. W.

Maybe those are the spider's initials.

MAN IS KILLED OUT OF REVENGE

Doc Montieth Shoots Vincent Laird Because He Was Arrested.

Carpenter, Ala., September 6.—(Special.)—Doc Montieth killed Vincent Laird here yesterday. It is thought, out of revenge, because the latter had him arrested for stealing cattle. A mob is after Montieth, and it is probable he may be lynched, if caught.

Several days ago Montieth was charged with stealing by Laird. Later Laird was killed, being shot from ambush. It is thought Doc Montieth killed him, because of the arrest.

A mob was instantly formed, and are on a hunt for the murderer. If he is caught he will probably be lynched.

DEATH OF A SMALL CHILD

Little Elizabeth Bloomfield Passes Away at a Private Sanitarium.

Little Elizabeth Bloomfield, infant daughter of P. J. Bloomfield, of this city, died at a private sanitarium yesterday afternoon at 6 o'clock after a short illness of a day and a half.

At the time of her death the little Bloomfield infant was but 21 months old. She was a granddaughter of the late Peter Lynch and daughter of the secretary-treasurer of Greenberg, Bond & Bloomfield, a local undertaking firm.

The body of the child was removed to the residence of Mrs. Peter Lynch, 98 Trinity avenue, yesterday afternoon. Funeral services will be held next Sunday from the Church of the Immaculate Conception, and interment will be in Oakland. The hour of the services will be announced later.

THE STRIKERS REMAIN FIRM

Telegraphers Say They Have No Intention of Going Back to Work.

Unless some definite and favorable action is taken by the directors of the Western Union Telegraph Company at their meeting next Tuesday, assert members of the local striking telegraphic union, the deadlock now existing between the commercial key operators and their employers will continue until congress convenes and assumes control of the country's wires.

Of the original number of some two hundred strikers who left their keys in Atlanta about a month ago, only a few remain unemployed. Of that few some are connected with the headquarters of the local union and are managing the strike. There has been one desertion from the strikers since the fight began. The unemployed telegraphers have been securing work in other occupations and have, in some instances, taken positions with the railways.

Local offices of the two commercial telegraph companies and the Associated Press continue to handle a business of lesser volume than they transacted before the strike's commencement. It is locally asserted by representatives of the three enterprises affected by the strike that no recognition of the strikers' demands will be extended by their companies. It is also stated that the Western Union directors will limit their attention to routine business in their session next Tuesday.

Strikers congregated in Atlanta believe that the companies will meet their terms before long. It is stated that smaller stations along the railway lines in the state are being cut back in on the main wires and that preparations are seemingly being made for resumption of business.

DISTINGUISHED MEN INVITED.

Invitations Mailed to Georgia State Confederate Veterans' Reunion, Augusta, Ga., September 6.—(Special.) The invitation committee for the Georgia state confederate reunion, which will be held in Augusta November 12 and 13, held an important meeting yesterday afternoon in the offices of the Chamber of Commerce, and issued special invitations to the following distinguished gentlemen, most of whom will be asked to take prominent parts in exercises incident to the reunion: Governor Hoke Smith and staff, Governor Ansel, of South Carolina, and staff, Robert E. Lee, Jr., who will be asked to deliver an address, Stephen D. Lee, general commanding the United Confederate Veterans, Columbus, Miss., W. E. Mickle, chief of staff, United Confederate Veterans, New Orleans, General C. A. Evans, deputy commander, Atlanta, Ga., General Thomas W. Carville, Edgefield, S. C., M. C. Butler, Edgefield, S. C., General C. I. Walker, Charleston, S. C., Colonel D. A. Lyle, United States arsenal, Augusta, Ga.

THEATERS.

"Court of June."

This artistic lyrical drama by Miss Elsiebeth Heming Hanna, which was given with unusual success last spring at the Grand opera house for the benefit of the Rabun Gap Industrial school and will be repeated Tuesday, September 10, for the benefit of the telegraph strikers. The music was composed by Mrs. Sarah J. Hanna, one of Atlanta's musicians. Mrs. Hanna is also musical director of this entertainment. Miss Janet Keith Walker, who staged the play last spring for Miss Hanna, will again have charge of the players. Miss Gypsy Morris will have charge of the dancing. Her work is known throughout the city as being of the highest merit. Mr. Jerome Jones will deliver an address before the curtain rises. Mr. Wedemeyer's band will give several numbers. The songs will have orchestral accompaniment.

At the Bijou.

A matinee this afternoon and final performance tonight will close the engagement of Anita, the singing girl at the Bijou. Patrons of the popular theater have shown their appreciation of the attraction by crowding the little theater to its capacity at each performance. The sale promises two more large audiences.

"Just Out of College."

George Ade's comedy, "Just Out of College," will have its first presentation in this city, at the Bijou next Monday night, beginning a week's engagement. The story is that of a young, impetuous college graduate who aspires to the hand of the daughter of a wealthy pickle manufacturer. The latter at first demurs, but afterward promises to give the son-in-law a making good use of $20,000 which he loans him. The money is used in promoting a rival pickle factory, which is ultimately bought up by the combination headed by the old man, at about ten times its actual value. This is where the young man, just out of college, shows his ability as a financier. He returns the $20,000 that he borrowed and marries the girl; but not until after he has had a most strenuous time of it. Between business and love, he has been the most active man in the community. In addition to this love romance, there are three similar affairs going on at the same time.

Every part in the play is said to be a distinct characterization, and in Mr. Ade's happiest vein.

Matinees will be given on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday.

Pastime Theater.

Amateurs had their time at the Pastime theater last night and made a great hit. There are a number of promising vaudeville stars in Atlanta and they are going to make good in the future. In addition to these original acts, the regular professional performance followed. Today is the last day for these acts, for next week comes the regular weekly change in the play bill.

The minstrel first part continues to make a hit, as all of the songs and jokes are new. Miss Lillian Starr, in her serpentine dances, creates a furore and her work is roundly applauded.

Miss Lillian Carl, in her illustrated songs, also makes a great hit, especially in "When the violets whisper, Marie."

Misses Birney, the clever skirt dancers, are romping into the affections of the theater goers by their graceful acting. They are pretty children and dance well.

Charles and May, "the two men in black," hand out a line of talk that is mirth provoking. Both are clever.

St. Nicholas Auditorium.

The large crowd that gathered at St. Nicholas auditorium at Ponce de Leon last night was worked up to a keen pitch of excitement during the progress of the three spirited races which were features of the evening's entertainment.

The first race, a free for all for boys, was won by Earl Brown. John Reinsky came a close second.

The second mile handicap was the most exciting of the three events. Wallace Thomas, a scratch man, won easily and Ware Holiday was second.

In the two-mile contest between Davies and McQuinn, neither could gain an advantage in the last lap and they finished a dead heat.

Plans for the trades carnival Thursday night are progressing favorably and the affair promises to be a brilliant success.

As an evidence of the popularity of roller skating in Atlanta, an unusual sight was witnessed on the floor of the big rink Thursday night. Three generations of the same family—grandfather, mother and grandchild—were all on the floor at the same time. The grandfather was enjoying himself as much as the little one. All were supremely happy.

Bryan has roasted Taft—the fattest
roast he ever tackled and served hot.

Harriman has been buying beers.
Is this a bid for reconciliation with Roosevelt?

It didn't take Prince Wilhelm long to discover how royalty is worshiped
in this country.

Wall street may be able to do the climbing act, but cotton is calling:
"Come up to the top limb!"

Little has been heard of Senator Beveridge lately. You bet he isn't doing all the talking now!

And to think that King Edward caused a divorce suit in far-away
Kentucky—at his time of life, too!

With that $5,000 tax a Georgia town has placed on locker clubs, it looks like there's no key to the situation.

Kermitt Roosevelt has stood up before prize fighters, but he made a most ungallant retreat before an army of girls.

Billville, in the county of Bill, following the example of Savannah, says that in spite of the prohibition law
it will never "take water."

The governor of North Carolina will not take the lecture platform.
He says he thinks he has taken a pretty good stand already.

They are constantly discovering new stars in the heavens, but now that Mansfield is gone, where will they get one for the stage?

It is said that the north may follow
the south on the prohibition line.
Being all in the union, we might as well have the dry grins together.

So many of the brethren striking gold in Georgia is another indication that "there's life in the old land yet."
All you have to do is to dig for it.

Dirt is still flying on the Panama

blinding dust in the eyes of the strenuous critics of the canal diggers.

It is rumored that Rockefeller is necessity of hitching his balloon to Bloodhounds to hunt criminals in New York; but what they really need there is a strenuous Georgia chasing gang for the criminals they catch.

A striking title for a new book by one of the popular novelists would be "The Bloodhounds of New York."
And what a chance to bring Wall street in!

Taft, like Roosevelt, only follows
where Bryan leads. But Bryan not only got into a train wreck, but gained wide advertisement by losing his night shirt.

They are still singing to ex-Govern-

one reply: "Net yet—but soon!"

Treating Inebriety As a Disease.

The Constitution cannot too strongly commend the plan whereby the Associated Charities of Atlanta hopes,
after the enforcement of the prohibition law on January 1, to substitute
the treatment of inebriety as a disease for the present method of "curing" drunkenness by imprisonment, shackles or the medium of the pickaxe.

Our one objection is found in the fact that the indifference of public sentiment and the limited power of the municipal authorities have thus far militated against a change of such wholesome, sensible and humanitarian nature.

The most casual command of the medical knowledge of today is sufficient to point out the frightful, if unconscious, cruelty of the conception
that chronic intoxication is a crime
and as such must be met with drastic penalties.

We know now that inebriety is as surely a disease, and its victims as certainly helpless slaves to its symptoms, as though the malady were typhoid fever, cholera, pneumonia or pneumonia.

The most pathetic phase of the matter is that the sufferer himself realizes his helplessness and his degradation, while at the same time lacking the strength to take the first essential steps toward a restoration.
Long indulgence, whatever may have been its source, has completely shattered his will-power and self-command, working transformations in the physical, moral, mental and spiritual fiber of his nature that provoke him
to deeds of such license as mark that unfortunate class for which the state makes provision in its asylum for the insane.

Recognizing his own weakness,
struggling desperately, but with futility, against it, family, friends, money, position—all those things which make life worth living—withdrawn gradually from him, the figure of the inebriate is one of the most pathetic and pathetic in the motley horde to which civilization has given birth.

And yet we take this poor creature, broken in body and spirit, and seek to cure his disease by giving him a sentence on the public works, or throwing him in close contact with other dregs of humanity more hopelessly depraved, perhaps, than himself. He is treated with the same harshness meted to the burglar or the petty pilferer. No steps are taken to remove the abnormal craving which is blazing his trail straight to the cemetery. Is it any wonder, then, that his devil, long chained, comes out roaring for new license and that the man himself, in a maze of hopeless resentment against this blundering crime of society, sinks lower and lower in the scale until the logical finis is written in somber letters?

The enforcement of the prohibition law at New Year will withdraw much of the open temptation from this class, but it need not be thought that the process will obliterate inebriety.
The chronic alcoholic, as well as the drug habitue, unless TREATED AS A VICTIM OF DISEASE AND GIVEN MEDICAL ASSISTANCE, WILL SECURE HIS CUSTOMARY STIMULANT BY HOOK OR BY CROOK, BY SENDING OUTSIDE OF THE STATE, OR VIOLATIONS OF THE LAW WITHIN THE STATE. Such is the history of statutory prohibition wherever enforced.
The fact cannot be evaded.

The question is, then: Will humanitarian Atlanta place itself in line with modern thought by giving these victims of circumstances or their own weakness an opportunity of redemption? Will it subscribe to the sensible doctrine that it is not only more Christian, but more economical from a money standpoint, to make an attempt to restore these estrays to their families and the community,
than to plunge them back into helplessness and draw increasing drafts
on the public resources by maintaining jails and jails for their "punishment?"

The Constitution has misread the lessons of its long acquaintance with the people of Atlanta if they do not answer these questions by rallying generously to the beneficent designs of the Associated Charities.

Back to the Forefathers.

National interest attaches to the discovery on part of the educational branch of the administration of Greater New York that the vertical system of penmanship is inadequate to the needs of the day, and that it must be superseded by the new free-arm movement, which is declared to make decisively for legibility,
rapidity and ease of writing.
According to Superintendent Maxwell, the method which replaces the vertical system has little in common with the style of penmanship which so long met the needs of our forefathers, but is a distinct advance
over any of the experimental modes
the gamut of which has been run by our national educational sponsors of recent years.

Let us at least indulge this fond hope.

We listened to the siren song of the advocate of the vertical system

and abandoned the old-fashioned slant with which our ancestors reared their deeds of conveyance, transacted
the business which laid the foundation for America's present commercial supremacy, or indicted the billet-doux read by the befuddled and hoop-skirted belles of a gone era.

And what did we gain?
We sent the good old, wholesome copy-book maxims hurtling to the rear and imposed on the country a system so chilly in its uniformity as to rob handwriting of its ability to record the characteristics of the writer; and we made the mechanical process itself to slow, and the resulting production to awkward and ungainly in appearance as to render an epistle even from the impersonal, coldly exact typewriter immensely
preferable.

The plea is now made that clerks trained to the "up and down" method are hopelessly unsatisfactory in the business world, where the main requirements are speed, legibility and endurance.

The shift in the New York system will be watched with peculiar interest. If, following upon the heels of an innumerable host of fads and experiments, it should prove insufficient to the needs of the age, we shall experience the temptation to champion
a movement back to the methods of our forefathers, which, after all, like the "good old-time religion," were found sufficiently elastic for every demand made upon them.

Affinities and Their Synonyms.

The cynically inclined student of our modern sociological usages will find plenty of current justification for an adaptation of the French epigram, which shall read, "Oh, Affinity!
What crimes are committed in thy name!"

Which comment is elicited by the story from New York city of the artist, Ferdinand Pinney Earle, who, having discovered that his wife of several years' standing was not his soul-mate, straightway proceeded to divest himself of her, as he would an unfashionable garment, taking to spouse instead a lady more capable of responding to the myriad calls of the "artistic" temperament. The dispatches relate, with soothing cadence, that the discarded Mrs. Earle made no outcry against the substitution, valiantly declaring that since her husband no longer found happiness
in her companionship, it was only proper that she should make way for a rival of more fortunate endowments.

The conventional, matter-of-fact inhabitants of Monroe, N. Y., the little town where the original Mrs. Earle had spent most of her life, did not subscribe to this heroic viewpoint.
As a result, it is reported that they treated Mr. Earle and the new Mrs.
Earle to such a rough reception that no doubt could remain in the mind of either as to their old-fashioned sentiments regarding "affinity."

There is, after all, nothing specially unique in the developments of the Earle affair. For "affinity" and the sophisticated moonshine woven about it is only a synonym for less high-sounding motives and phrases which crop up in our divorce courts every day of the year. The circumstances in the specific instance are given unusual parade, because of the prominence of the parties concerned. And while artists and writers, by some process of reasoning which fascinates and dazzles the mere lay mind, ar-rogate unusual privileges to themselves
in the line of matrimonial license,
the offense is by no means confined to their ranks. Mr. William Ellis Corey, it will be remembered, suddenly discovered a new "affinity,"
and he was only one of many predecessors and imitators. The main requisites to the indulgence of a versatile connubial taste are plenty of money or an argument sufficiently specious to prevail with a judge or jury.

Neither is this nomadic tendency confined to station or wealth, or class or race. The brother in black or the low grade foreigner in the congested eastern cities is perpetually discovering new "affinities," which impel him abruptly and forthwith to make a change in his domestic arrangements.

But when such events occur in the lower strata we are wont to call them by less fanciful names, and to use blunt Anglo-Saxon in characterizations which afford endless material for sermonizing to the gentlemen upon whose shoulders rest the guardianship of the national morals.
And it is to be assumed that the discovery of "affinities," with all the convenient prerogatives and the specious glamour thereto attached, will proceed unabated until the anti-divorce sentiment, even now gaining strength in this country, will gather more virile proportions unto itself.

Taft says that the trusts that are real "good" trusts should be allowed to continue business as the old stands.
And Rockefeller says that they are all good, if you just look at them in the right way.

There is a breath of falltime in the air, and this is the way a Georgia
weekly exchange welcomes it:
"Life's not a riddle
In the early fall;
Tune up the fiddle
For a hands-round all!"

A correspondent writes to ask how he "can learn the literary business?"
According to some authorities, it is as easy as fishing. Just establish a bureau, place a two-inch advertisement in a first-class newspaper, and begin by teaching it!

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Are Our Courts Making Criminals?

Editor Constitution: First of all, you will please allow me to congratulate you for the wise and timely editorial in yesterday's issue
under the caption "A Judicial Awakening."
From a viewpoint there has not appeared in quite a while a more important editorial utterance, and I could only wish that you could have thought it proper to have expanded that editorial into a "double column leader." However, you have struck the keynote of one phase of the gravest problem known to us
namely, the cause and consequences of crime,
and have opened the way for others to express their opinion.

In the second place, while I have always had something of a profound respect for Judges, I feel like taking off my hat to Judge McKenzie Cleland, who presides over one of the police courts in Chicago, for his strong declarations which you quoted, and I think if I go to Chicago to attend the National Prison Association as one of the governor's appointed delegates from Georgia I will hunt up Judge Cleland and pay my respects to him in person. Prison is not a sentimental matter, no doubt, as a sentimentalist, but there is no question about the fact in the minds of some of us that such men as he, Judge Cleland and others who could be named have gone more directly and intelligently to the heart of this question of jurisprudence than those who sit on the bench, together with all other officials from bailiff to policeman
in a cold, official capacity, seeking to mete out justice, so-called, when it is such punishment as oftentimes further criminalizes the offender against the law.

Judge Cleland is eminently right when he declares, "I saw the mistake that it is to send men to prison. I am not a radical, opinions, it seems to me, are based on common sense. I think the purpose of the law is to keep men out of prison." This recalls the true words of Oscar Wilde:

"The vilest deeds, like poison weeds,
Bloom well in prison air;
'Tis only what is good within man
That wastes and withers there.
Pale anguish keeps the heavy gate
And the warden in despair."

Again Judge Cleland makes a multum in parvo statement when he declares "the people of a community should love the law, not fear
it." This is a statement, let me say, that I have never seen in any other place, and which leads to the happiest results in dealing with both children and adults: in the home,
in the school room, as well as before the law. The law is the principle of fear, fear and love. The fear of punishment is the beginning of wisdom, but it is only the beginning, and unless it leads on to the higher, stronger principle of faith, and faith,
in turn, leads to the principle of love, this beginning of wisdom, fear, is converted sooner or later into hatred and opposition.
In other words, the child or man, fearing the penalty of the law, has only taken the first step toward wisdom. He must be led to believe in the law and trust all of those who stand for its observance and integrity;
but he never comes to his best—unless he loves the law of the family, the law of the land and the law of God—until he is constrained by love.

Now it seems to me that many police and court officials in our day are dealing with offenders on the law and the first principle named, and evidently all such are in their A B C of good government, confining their treatment to fear and punishment, never taking those steps to win confidence and love. The love of moderns, they are but multiplying criminals in our midst.
Without saying more on this subject myself
at this time, please allow me to call attention to a very readable romance bearing on this subject, "The Turn of the Tide," by
"The Turn of the Tide," himself a lawyer and an eye-witness to many of the evils he portrays. While deep into this book I relay a letter from Judge Ben B. Lindsey, of Denver, Colorado, in which he says, "I have been reading Mr. Whitlock's book, 'The Turn of the Tide,' and speaking of it to my friends. Every man and woman especially who believe in the law, or who believe in the truths accepted generally by Christians, ought to read this book. Especially should it be in the hands of that large and earnest class of people who are trying to bring about the necessary reforms in our civilization. . . . It is a wonderful real and true to life, and one of the most fascinating stories I ever read, and is bound to interest every man and woman who has any love for his fellow brothers and sisters in the world, not only for the value as interesting and entertaining story, but also for its value in pointing out facts that are necessary to be known before we can begin
the right solution of the great problem it concerns."

Hoping what is here said and referred to will provoke others, wiser than myself, to make their contributions to the "Right Solution of the Great Problem," I am,
CRAWFORD JACKSON.

Judicial Murder.

Editor Constitution: Relative to the narcotic law, I wish to commend your editorial in this morning's Constitution. Judge Pennington's change to the grand jury and the efforts of the Associated Charities and Mr. Evans, all of which consider the suffering and the amelioration of the habitual users of opium, morphine and their derivatives. The nature of my work, as I do a drug manufacturer, brings me in almost constant touch with the drug trade and medical profession,
and I speak advisedly when I say the general public has but small knowledge of the suffering of the drug addict, and the suffering in consequence of this drastic law which formulated and put into effect in so short a time.

The claims that all steps toward the betterment of our people have their martyrs, and that the users of drugs, who are the sufferers, need no help and should suffer the consequences of their offenses may be all right
in a sense, but I hold it is not good sense,
nor is it just or humane.

In the columns of your paper a few days since appeared the details of the death of a man and woman, so-called "opium fiends,"
from whom the law deprived their only means of living.

The law, the state, commits murder!
The state says it's wrong to use opium,
therefore it is withdrawn from sale and the users may suffer and die. The state says it's wrong to steal and the offender is equally punished. BUT THE STATE TAKES CARE OF THE OFFENDER. The state says murder must not be committed. BUT THE STATE TAKES CARE OF THE MUR-DERER UNTIL HE IS LEGALLY PUT TO DEATH.

I do not mean to condone the general use of narcotics, and I commend any just legislation that tends to lessen their use or remove temptation; but I do hold that the passage
and enforcement of this law become inhumane and criminal when the same authority makes no provision for the life or comforts of these miserable wretches, its victims.

Bond Election for Waterworks.

Covington, Ga., September 6.—(Special.)
On October 9 the voters of this city will cast their ballots for or against bonds
for the establishing of a complete system of waterworks and sewerage and for the construction of an annex to the city public school building. Sixty thousand dollars is the aggregate amount of bonds to be issued, $35,000 for the establishing, erection and equipping of a water and sewerage system and $5,000 for the building of the public school annex. Representatives of the J. B. Mc-Crory Company, Atlanta, recently made a survey of the city to determine the amount of piping, etc., that would be required for the installation of the system. The members of the city council have already reported favorably on the plan of the McCrory Company, hence their call for an election to decide whether to issue bonds.

"Just From Georgia."

The Farmer Is the Man!

I.
Them fellers thar, in Wall street, air
mad from left to right,
With cotton climbin' up so high it's almost out o' sight!
They've been a-runnin' things, so far,
on their financial plan,
But we've changed the tactics on 'em,
an' the farmer is the man!

II.
Them fellers thar, in Wall street, been havin' things their way,
An' runnin' of the country, an' hollerin'
"Hoary!"
But other folks has got a right to man-
agin' the lan',
So cotton's goin' out o' sight: The farmer is the man!

III.
They've had their halleluiahs—an' such a high old time:
An' now that cotton's gone so high,
they're most too fat to climb!
But climb they must, I tell you, an'
take a different plan,
For cotton's out o' sight, an' now the
farmer is the man!

A Providential Affair.
"Things do happen so providential,"
said the Billville philosopher.

"Think so?"
"I know it. They were just about to foreclose a mortgage on my house
when a hurricane come along an' blowed
it clean into the next county!"

The Hopeful Way.
No use in sayin' hope's dead,
An' summer her blossoms has shed;
Roughest old way
In the dark or the day,
Hope's still ahead!

No use in makin' your bed
In gardens of thorns growin' red;
Trouble an' sorrow
Won't live till tomorrow:
Hope's still ahead!

Life to the bright way is led
When the stars in the darkness fall dead;
Ever the singin'
Of golden bells ringin':

No Chance for Him.
"I should like to write you for an accident policy," said the insurance man.

"No use," replied the Billville editor.
"Had one for ten years, and been in sixteen railroad wrecks, and ain't even had a leg cut off, or an arm broke!
I'm the unluckiest mortal in existence!"

The seaside resort has one advantage over the inland fellows:
The freight on board bills is considerably less by steamer.

The Growlers.
The growlers come, the growlers go,
Like hurricanes a-howlin';
You see, the good Lord made 'em so:
They've got to keep a-growlin'!

They growl where Trouble takes his stand,
Single file, or double,
And then, with Happiness at hand,
They growl for lack of trouble!

It's been the same since Time was made:
They cease the growlin'—never;
The world rolls on in shine an' shade,
An' let's 'em growl forever!

Love's Dwelling.
If Love hath a flowerless cot,
Enter thou, and question not;
Happily there may be peeped
All the light of all the world!

Even when Sorrow would destroy,
Love is light, and Love is joy;
Even for all the darkness given,
Love makes earth a dream of heaven!

Briefs from Billville.
The Billville moonshine distillers are all running on full time, but they are not half as full as the citizens that patronize them.

We are all preparing to have locker clubs in Billville, but unfortunately,
our mother-in-law has the key to the one we have at home.

One candidate for a local office ran so fast for it that he broke a leg and his neck; nevertheless, this tragedy will not make the rest of them get out of the race.

We are all trying to feel resigned to the first of January next; and as that's the time we swear off anyhow, the prohibition law won't make much difference.

The Halleluia Country.

I.
Sorrow will seem nothing—
Fading out of sight
In the Halleluia country
Where the sun shines bright!

II.
We'll realize our dreaming
In valleys of delight
In the Halleluia country
Where the stars shine bright!

III.
The splendid land of promise—
With heaven itself in sight—
The Halleluia country
Where the sun shines bright!

IV.
The Optimist.
"When trouble comes, just whistle."
"But how can a man whistle when he's howlin' like fury?"
"Well, then, let him howl in tune!"

Cheer up! Fall time is with us, and—You'll soon hear the fiddle
See the possum on the griddle,
And balance to your partners all.

Mental and Moral Strychnine.

THE EGO AND HIS OWN. By Max
Stirner. Strychnine as well as many of the other powerful drugs with which modern medical science combats death
and disease, has this peculiar property
—given in small doses, 1-60 to 1-30 of a grain, it gradually rehabilitates the shattered nervous system, brings order and normal method to the functions of the body, and frequently restores the mental processes to their pristine vigor and continuity. Given wholesale, in large doses or with discrimination, it brings disorganization and death.

There is a precise analogy in the mental and moral and spiritual effects of new and revolutionary theories, expressed in the printed page or in the personal word from platform or forum.
Which is apropos of the doctrines of Max Stirner, as expressed in "The Ego and His Own," a good translation of which has been available for several months. Stirner was born in Bayreuth, in 1808, and died in Berlin in 1856.

From first to last Stirner preaches
the gospel of individualism in concentrated form. He would do away with laws that fetter, with conventions which hold the mind in thrall, and militate against the development of the best that is in him; with the fetish of blind subservience to equally blind leadership, whether in religion, politics or in the personal sphere of action; with allegiance to inherited ideas
and traditions, assumed unthinkingly and because it is easier to follow the beaten path than to tread out a new and original one.

If the hypercritical student was inclined to rail against the independentism preached by the rugged Ibsen, he must needs be stricken dumb by the infinite variety of premises and conclusions of Stirner. For in the hypothetical world of the latter there is no restriction of law, no restraint of pity, no concession to custom—save as all three are held in leash to the good of the Man, the Ego.

"Live your own life," proclaims this bold prophet. "Ignore the institutions of society, the canons of the community, where they interfere with your attainment of the highest that is within you. Society in the mass will do little for you. You must look after your own fences. Rebel! Do not hesitate to follow your own standards,
because they may happen to be opposed to those of your next-door neighbor, or the local or national concen-sus."

Stirner reaches these conclusions by arguments and through illustrations none the less striking and logical for their involvement in verbiage and repetition.

Hopelessly chaotic and subversive of orderly government and virtue and progress, will be the verdict of the casual thinker.

To an extent—yes. And that is why the analogy regarding strychnine is employed in the opening paragraph.
For it may not be debatable that we live in an age where the individual and his actions are increasingly held up, as against the tendency to follow thoughtlessly in the wake of established thought and custom. Ines outside of thought is being encouraged, for independence in all ages has meant originality and true progress. Egoism, held within proper bounds, has, as a rule,
worked for the advancement of humanity in the many enterprises to which its efforts are addressed. The practice of accepting current conclusions and of letting one's thinking be done by others of less sluggish in-

MADDOX-RUCKER BANKING CO.

REMARKABLE RECORDS MADE BY FRANK RICE

While members of the water board and a special committee were waiting yesterday afternoon to get a quorum, Frank P. Rice, president of the water board, got into a reminiscent mood.

"Do you all know that I was personally acquainted with every official that ever held an office in the city of Atlanta? I reckon I am the only man living who can say that. I knew the first mayor, Moses Formwalt, when I was 9 years old. I met every mayor after that clean down to the present day. I also have known and now know personally every member of council, the aldermanic board, the city boards and other branches of the city government."

After pausing a few moments, he continued:

"When I was about 13 or 14 years old I went to work for Dent & O'Brien, contractors, who were doing some grading near Newnan, and my job was to drive a dump cart. My wages were to be $75 for a whole year with board in one of the shacks. What do you reckon I spent that year of that $75?"

Nobody ventured a guess and Mr. Rice said:

"I spent just 15 cents that whole year."

"What did you buy with that money?" asked Alderman Peters.

"Why, it was a fine-tooth comb," Mr. Rice replied. "When it came time to draw my year's wages I paid the cashier the fifteen cents out of my pocket, as I had kept 25 cents all the time, so I wouldn't have to break the $75. Then one of the bosses rose up and paid me one hundred silver dollars. He told me if I would work another year my wages would be $200, but I declined, as I had to go to school. Yes, sir, I spent only 15 cents of that year's wages, and I bet the record for economy can't be beat."

The other city officials present agreed with him, and the meeting was called to order for the purpose of trying to save the city some money on the purchase of a new filter plant.

WAITED MORE THAN YEAR TO FIND NAME FOR BABY

A son's devotion to his mother, and the many gifts made her, is about to be rewarded by naming a baby for him, a baby which has been waiting for a name for over one year.

The Constitution has received a letter from Rome, Ga., written by a little girl 12 years old, in which she asks for the full name of the Norcross boy who went to New York, became connected with the firm of A. O. Brown & Co., and making a large fortune, recently returned to Georgia with a party of friends to open a home costing $100,000, which he had given his old mother.

The little girl had an inkling of the last name, but did not know the Christian name. The name she wanted, however, runs Edward P. Buchanan. In her letter she says that the family had been waiting for more than a year to find a name for the baby which would be suitable in every way.

The little girl admired the action of Mr. Buchanan in providing for his mother, and she declared that such a virtue was unusual in these days, and ended with the statement that her mother had told her she could name her baby brother after the former Norcross boy if she could learn the whole name.

RABBI GUTTERMAN COMES TO ATLANTA SYNAGOGUE

The arrival of Rabbi Gutterman, of New York, who has been chosen to occupy the pulpit of the newly formed congregation, Shearith Israel, has caused quite a stir in religious circles among the Jewish citizenship of Atlanta.

The position which Rabbi Gutterman has been chosen to fill is a very important one since an Orthodox rabbi must be an authority on divorces, marriages and must act as supervisor over the Jewish slaughterhouses, seeing that all animals are killed according to the Jewish mode of slaughter.

Rabbi Gutterman is a son-in-law of the famous Rabbi Horowitz, of New York, and he comes here with letters of proficiency from the greatest Hebrew divines of the country. Rabbi Gutterman is a graduate of the Isaac Elhanan Theological School, which is the greatest Jewish Theological Seminary in America.

The congregation Shearith Israel, where Rabbi Gutterman will officiate, has just recently bought the building of the St. Paul's Methodist church, which is now being remodeled for the use of the congregation.

The Jewish New Year days are next Monday and Tuesday. On both of these days Rabbi Gutterman will address the congregation.

Rabbi Gutterman has received many congratulations for having been chosen to fill this position and all wish for him joy in his new field of work in Atlanta.

MUST ANSWER CENTRAL SUIT

Chairman S. G. McLendon Served With Federal Court Subpena.

Chairman S. G. McLendon, of the railroad commission of Georgia, was on yesterday served with a subpoena demanding his attendance upon the federal court, in Atlanta, on September 16, when the bill for an injunction, as prayed for by the Central of Georgia Railroad, will be heard. In this bill, an estoppel against the further sale of reduced passenger rates, as ordered in Circular No. 334, is asked. In the meantime the rates are in force.

Following this service one of a similar nature was served from the bill in equity, as filed in the Fulton county superior court, which sets a date for a similar hearing in the Atlanta and West Point case. These subpoenas and services were likewise given the other members of the commission, Attorney General Hart and Special Counsel Hines, of the railroad commission.

After their service, Judge Hart and Chairman McLendon were called to the private office of Governor Smith, where the bill of the Atlanta and West Point Railroad and Central of Georgia were carefully gone over by the trio and the first line of defense was planned.

ROME RAILROAD NOT CLASSIFIED

Railroad Commission Will Decide Cost at Meeting This Week.

Through some inadvertency the "Rome railroad," owned by the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis, and operated as a part of that road, was omitted from the list of railroads named in Circular No. 334, which set out the rates to be charged under it and there has come into the office of the railroad commission a query as to what the rate shall be.

The road in question is operated as a part of the state road on which the maximum fare allowed, for intra-state passengers, is two cents a mile. As it is not listed as a "two-cent road" and operated as a part of a two-cent system and yet under a separate name, it is stated that the fare charged is the old fare of three cents a mile. To ascertain the status of this road, which is not classed with those allowed to charge two cents, two and a quarter, two and a half, three, four and five cents, the commission will sit early next week.

So far as has come to the attention of the commission this is the only road which has not been classified.

While no official opinion has been given out as to what rate will be charged, it is believed that the state road rate of two cents a mile will be named.

COMMITTEE FILES REPORT. But It Will Not Be Made Public Until Governor Comes Return.

Montgomery, Ala., September 6.—(Special.)—The committee appointed by the governor to investigate charges against the conduct of the state asylum for the insane, at Tuscaloosa, met here this afternoon to write its report to the governor. The report cannot be made public until done so by the governor, which will delay it to the return of the executive from his vacation.

It is not known what the committee will advocate. None of them are willing to talk about it. Chairman Jere King said there was much to be said, but he could not indicate what way it would be. A draft of the report was written by Mr. King early in the day and it will be gone over by the members of the commission tonight and in the morning. It will then be filed with Private Secretary Port to await the return of Governor Comer.

WILL ASK BIDS FOR NEW FILTER

Water Board and Special Committee Meet

SPECIFICATIONS AGREED TO

Attorney for New York Company Makes Request Which Was Not Accepted—Why It Was Decided to Secure New Bids.

The water board and the special committee appointed to assist the board in the expenditure of the bond money met yesterday afternoon and acted upon specifications made by the general manager for a new filter plant.

The specifications call for sealed bids, to be opened on October 23, for a horizontal sectional washing pressure filter plant with a daily capacity of 4,000,000 gallons.

Attorney V. A. Batchelor, representing the New York Continental Jewel Filtration Company, spoke to the board and committee and asked that the action calling all the first bids off be reconsidered. He said he was not informed that such action really meant any saving to the city, but was the result of the statement of one party who was interested in a bid. He thought the acceptance of the bid of the company he represented was in good faith and should be allowed to stand.

No action was taken on Mr. Batchelor's suggestion and the specifications submitted by the general manager were inspected and agreed to.

Will Be Advertised.

The specifications will be published in newspapers throughout the country, and on October 23 new bids for the filter plant will be opened.

Thus was recorded another chapter in a very interesting bit of local legislation. When the first bids for the filter plant were opened, that of the New York Continental Jewel Filtration Company was accepted, the amount being $30,000, including all the necessary connections. After the bid was accepted, Grant Wilkins appeared before council and stated that he had a bid for the filter plant from William B. Schafie Sons & Co., for $17,300. He had bid on both filter plant and basins and did not separate his bids, he said, because the board and committee did not ask him to. It was believed under the circumstances it was best to call all bids off and advertise for new ones.

BABY DRANK CARBOLIC ACID. Two-Year-Old Boy in Augusta Meets a Horrible Death.

Augusta, Ga., September 6.—(Special.)—As the result of drinking a small bottle of carbolic acid, Frederick Thomas, the 2-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Thomas, of Augusta, died in agony in the presence of half-crazed parents and helpless physician.

The baby was a bright child which had just reached the age when it could toddle in and out of the neighbors' houses on short pilgrimages of infantile discovery. Yesterday morning the child, unnoticed, found its way to the medicine closet of a neighbor. A moment later it was found on the floor in convulsions, with mouth and little hands burned and scorched by the fiery fluid. The child had drunk a considerable portion of the contents of a small bottle, and was beyond hope.

The funeral place yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock from the residence of Mr. H. H. Pague, 1330 Estes street, and the interment was at West View cemetery.

JUDGE MONTGOMERY VERY ILL. North Carolina Rate Hearing Postponed in Consequence.

Washington, September 6.—Owing to an attack of acute indigestion, Judge Montgomery, the master in chancery before whom the hearing in the North Carolina rate investigation is being held, this morning's session of the inquiry was postponed.

Judge Montgomery was taken with an attack while in North Carolina last week, but he came to the city yesterday and, against the advice of his physician, conducted the rate hearing. He was feeling so unwell, when the hour for the hearing this morning arrived that he was compelled to postpone the inquiry.

ONE IN THREE Every Third Person Poisoned by Coffee.

It is difficult to make people believe that coffee is an absolute poison to at least one person out of every three, but people are slowly finding it out, although thousands of them suffer terribly before they discover the fact.

A New York citizen says: "Each time after drinking coffee I become restless, nervous and excited, so that I was unable to sit five minutes in one place. I was also inclined to vomit and suffered from loss of sleep, which got worse and worse."

"A lady said that perhaps coffee was the cause of my trouble, and suggested that I try Postum Food Coffee. I laughed at the thought that coffee hurt me, but she insisted so hard that I finally had some Postum made. I have been using it in place of coffee ever since, for I noticed that all my former nervousness and irritation disappeared. I began to sleep perfectly, and the Postum tasted as good or better than the old coffee, so what was the use of sticking to a beverage that was ruining me?"

"One day on an excursion up the country I remarked to a young lady friend on her greatly improved appearance. She explained that some time before she had quit using coffee and taken Postum. She had gained a number of pounds and her former palpitation of the heart, burning in the ears, trembling of the hands and legs and other disagreeable feelings had disappeared. She recommended me to quit coffee and take Postum and was very much surprised to find that I had already made the change."

"She said her brother had also received great benefit from leaving off coffee and taking on Postum Food Coffee." "There's a Reason." Read "The Road to Wellville," in plugs.

A. & W. P. JOINS IN THE PROTEST Seeks to Prevent Enforcement of Reduced Rate Order.

The Atlanta and West Point railway has joined the list of railroads within the state of Georgia opposed to rule 334 recently issued by the Georgia railroad commission wherein a reduction of passenger rates is directed by that body.

Dorsey, Brewster, Howell & Heyman, attorneys for the Atlanta and West Point, filed the papers with the clerk of the United States court yesterday, and along with the document, which is decidedly lengthy, was presented a paper from Judge D. D. Shelby, Huntsville, of the circuit court of appeals for the fifth judicial circuit, naming the 16th as the day upon which the prayer for injunction may be heard.

The complainant company sets out the fact that it has been operating a railway line between East Point, 6 miles from Atlanta, and West Point, on the Alabama line, for more than fifty years. Until recently, however, the road had no right of way into Atlanta, having for years reached the city by the tracks of another road. It is then set out that the road has had no terminal facilities within the city, having for many years made use of the old carshed, the property of the state, for passenger depot purposes. It then recites the recent construction of the belt line from Oakland City to Reynoldstown, and asserts that it (the Atlanta and West Point) has made a lease of that belt line for a term of ninety years at an annual rental of $1,000. That sum, together with $21,170 a year the road is now paying for its new terminal privileges, are presented to show additional expenses to which the company has recently been put.

Then, in section 9 of the paper, it is asserted that two roads only in the state are required by rule 334 to make a 2-cent rate—the Atlanta and West Point and the Western and Atlantic. The Atlanta and West Point is then set out as being allowed a 2-1-2 cent rate. Then it is asserted that, since the 3-cent rate was introduced some twenty years ago, great prosperity has prevailed throughout the country. But the 2-cent rate, it is added, reduced the income of the road from passenger traffic alone 33-1-3 per cent. That rates compel the company to operate at a great loss, and practically amounts to confiscation of property. A table of all business done by the road for a year gone by is presented. The receipts from all sources, too, are shown, and then it is declared that enforcement of rule 334 would be ruinous to the complainant company.

Notwithstanding the fact that the members of the railroad commission and the Atlanta and West Point railway are all residents of the state, the bill was filed in the United States court. That was done because the attorneys for the complainant declare that the constitution of the United States is being violated, as the rule, if enforced, amounts to a confiscation of property.

Close Race for Judge.

Covington, Ga., September 6.—(Special.)—The primary election for judge and solicitor of the new city court of Covington is only one week off, next Friday, September 13, being the date. Colonels W. H. Whaley, L. L. Middlebrooks and Capers Dickson are in the race for judge and it is already evident that the contest will be close. Colonel Joseph P. Cooley and J. F. Rogers are running for solicitor.

LAW CAN HELP MEN WHO DRINK

City Attorney Speaks of Probation for Drunkards.

COUNCIL CAN MAKE LAWS

Plan to Help Inebriates After January 1 Meets With General Indorsement—Ordinance Can Be Passed to Pardon Men Who Inform on the Blind Tigers.

The plan of the Associated Charities to give a helping hand to the unfortunate victims of strong drink, which was published in yesterday's Constitution, is meeting with a general endorsement by the people of Atlanta.

When the story of what the Associated Charities intended to do was read in The Constitution yesterday, a number of prominent citizens communicated with the office of the Associated Charities in the Gould building and let it be known that they would assist in every possible way to get the police authorities to save the drunkards by kindness, or at least give them one more opportunity for reform after the sale of liquor is stopped the first of next year by the new state law.

Suitable Laws Can Be Passed. City Attorney Mayson was asked yesterday if the city council could not adopt ordinances necessary to place on probation such men as were addicted to the liquor habit, and he replied that such laws could be legally passed.

It is proposed to have an ordinance passed by the city council after the first of January giving any person charged with being drunk the right to inform the police where he got his liquor, and if he does so he can escape being fined. The city attorney says that such an ordinance would be legal and would have the effect of assisting the officers of the law in ferreting out blind tigers and, at the same time, would help to carry out the prohibition plan.

Among those who communicated with the office of Associated Charities yesterday was a woman—the wife of a drunkard. She wrote a note in which she said:

From a Drunkard's Wife. "I see by The Constitution that there is to be a plan to give the men who drink too much a chance to reform. Thank God! My poor husband has been drinking for years. He has gone to the stockade and left his family to suffer for food. What good did it do to fine him? It only took the money from him and deprived us of the little that he made at times when he could keep sober. Drink with him is a disease. I have seen him rattle all night long to be delivered from the curse. I believe when the saloons are closed and he is given a chance that he will make a man of himself and at last be a blessing to his family."

It is just such cases as this, the officers of the Associated Charities say, that can be taken care of when there is prohibition in the state.

MANY MAD DOGS AT DAWSON. Several Children Bitten by Canines in Terrell County.

Dawson, Ga., September 6.—(Special.)—As "dog days" are drawing to a close mad dogs have been getting in their work. Two children having recently been bitten a few miles north of Dawson and carried to the Pasteur Institute in Atlanta for treatment. A dog that was evidently mad ran through the streets of this city a short time since and it is said bit a number of other dogs before it was finally killed, hence there has been considerable anxiety on the part of our citizens lest some of these dogs developed rabies and should bite persons here.

BISHOP CANDLER WILL SPEAK In Alabama Next Week on Prohibition Question.

Birmingham, Ala., September 6.—Chairman Walter L. Sessions, of the central prohibition committee, has announced the dates on which Bishop Warren A. Candler, of the Methodist Episcopal church, will deliver prohibition addresses in Jefferson county.

Bishop Candler will arrive in Birmingham Wednesday morning of next week from Atlanta, his home. He will speak at the First Baptist church Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock, Wednesday evening he will speak at Ensley. Thursday morning at 11 o'clock he will deliver an address at the First Methodist church at Bessemer and on Thursday evening he will speak in the First Methodist church, Birmingham. Only four addresses will be delivered here by Bishop Candler during the earlier stages of the campaign.

INCREASE TAX ON RAILROADS

Assessments in South Carolina Show Raise of $11,500,000.

Columbia, S. C., September 6.—(Special.)—The state board of railroad assessors has announced the assessments placed on the railroad property in South Carolina, making a total increase in the assessments over last year of $11,500,000. Of this increase the Southern railway bears $6,000,000, the Atlantic Coast Line nearly $5,000,000, the Seaboard $500,000, and the independent lines about $100,000.

The increase is not due to any improvements that the roads have made, but chiefly to the desire of the board to raise assessments to the constitutional 100 per cent basis. However, no other property in South Carolina is assessed at anything like 100 per cent.

SOCIETY

Coaching Party and Dinner.

Colonel and Mrs. Robert J. Lowry received social life at the Piedmont Driving Club last evening when the club of their coach announced there at 6 o'clock a bright party which they had brought out on their coach for dinner.

It was the first time the coach had been out this summer, and the first large dinner at the club since it has been so near completion.

Mrs. Lowry occupied the box seat on the coach and was wearing in her lingerie gown over white silk, flowered in roses, and her lace hat, trimmed in roses.

General Davis, U. S. A., was on her right at dinner, and the occasion was a most happy one, in the party being Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hawkins, Mr. and Mrs. Harbourn Thompson, Mrs. Ralph Hayden, Messrs. Joseph T. Orme, Charles W. Crankshaw, Thomas D. Meador, Sr.

The table on the corner of the terrace was beautifully decorated in ferns and flowers, and the dinner was a delicious repast, most daintily served.

Recital for Christian Church.

A recital of unusual interest will be that of next Tuesday evening, September 17, at the First Christian church, when a number of talented people will contribute to the program, among them Miss Evelyn Lewis, who will be the reader of the evening. Miss Lewis will be one of a trio of artists to travel this season under the auspices of the Alhambra Lyceum system. With her will be Miss Christine Giles, soprano-violinist, and Mr. Leon C. Batchelder, flute soloist.

Of Miss Lewis' ability, Dr. Emerson, of the Emerson college, Boston, has said:

"It is with great pleasure that I recommend Miss Evelyn Lewis as a public reader of great merit. She possesses unusual natural ability, developed to a marked degree. Her work is attractive because of the radiation of her sterling character, and because of her artistic interpretation of the author's thought. Her presence upon the platform is beautiful and very expressive. Her manner by grace and beauty of movement always suggests culture and refinement. Her voice expresses thought and emotion to the audience, and is well modulated, musical and sympathetic. She is one who grows upon her audiences. Those who hear her are delighted and wish to hear her again. Her work is that of a true artist."

Rucker-Brown.

Miss Adelle Rucker, formerly of Gainesville, Ga., but now of Atlanta, and Mr. Herbert Brown, of New York city, were quietly married Tuesday night, Dr. W. W. Landrum officiating.

St. Francis Mission.

The ladies of St. Francis' Mission wish to thank their friends who have contributed so generously and patronized so freely at their ice cream party at Western Heights on Tuesday, August 27.

Mrs. Wiley's Poems.

The friends of Mrs. Lillie Belle Wiley and admirers of her verse will be interested to learn that she is compiling a book of her poetic work, to be published at an early date.

Her verses have become popular, not alone in the southern press, but in the leading periodicals of other sections, and recently she has been busily engaged in a romance, hinging on the old Indian stories of Nacoochee valley.

Birthday Party.

One of the most enjoyable affairs of the past week was the birthday party given by Ralph and Hugh Harris at their home on Luckie street, in celebration of their fifth and third birthdays. Games of all kinds were enjoyed. Miss India Gornley was the prize-winner in the donkey contest.

Delicious ices were served, the dining room being in white and red. Miss Alberta Beiser won the prize in cutting the birthday cake. Those present were: Miss Alberta Beiser, India Gornley, Elizabeth Sims, Adelle Trammel, Nannie Tucker, Cecil Allen, Mary Allen, Mabel Felker, Cecil Allen, Ruby Pharr and Miss Julius Richardson. Masters Jacob Fottis, Guy Quillian, Ralph Pharr, Hugh Pharr, Jaster Welch, Ralph Cooper, Jr., Chas. Trammel, Herman Moss, John Moss, Earl Pharr, John Garst, Milton Williams, Jr., Miles D. Hartsfield, Jerome Allen, Joe Felker and others.

To Miss Roberts.

Miss Anita Stewart's afternoon tea yesterday assembled a charming company of the school-girl set, and the gracious entertainment extended them was enjoyed with all the more enthusiasm since it was one of the last parties to be given before the opening of school.

In the good old-fashioned days of our grandmothers few drugs were used in medicines and Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made in her study of roots and herbs and their power over disease discovered and gave to the women of the world a remedy for their peculiar ills more potent and efficacious than any combination of drugs.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

is an honest, tried and true remedy of unquestionable therapeutic value. During its record of more than thirty years, its long list of actual cures of those serious ills peculiar to women, entitles Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to the respect and confidence of every fair minded person and every thinking woman.

When women are troubled with irregular or painful functions, weakness, displacements, ulceration or inflammation, backache, flatulency, general debility, indigestion or nervous prostration, they should remember there is one tried and true remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

No other remedy in the country has such a record of cures of female ills, and thousands of women residing in every part of the United States bear willing testimony to the wonderful virtue of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable compound and what it has done for them.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health. For twenty-five years she has been advising sick women free of charge. She is the daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham and as her assistant for years before her decease advised under her immediate direction. Address, Lynn, Mass.

FOR THE LOCAL CLUBIn First Inning Billy Smith's Men Got Busy With Their Bats and Assessed a Total of Six Hits and Five Runs—Pelicans Could Not Score.

The Crackers bid their friends good morning from the top of the ladder today. A mighty heave carried them over the divide yesterday, the hard fighting of almost a week having accomplished its purpose in putting Atlanta in the lead where today she proudly sits enthroned with the Memphis gasping just below.

The Barons of Birmingham again proved to be friendly allies. Memphis was beaten 9 to 4 at the hands of Vaughn's brigade, Turner getting away with Bills who was blown open for a total of thirteen hits.

And while this was being enacted on a distant field of battle, the Crackers were rousing the Pelicans on the home lot. The result was an upward jump for the locals and a dismal slide for our main enemy.

And today the flap of the flag brushes Crackers faces and eager hands are ready to grasp it. Such a glowing glistening way stretches out before us with possibilities never before so bright.

Fifth Straight Victory.
It's another tale of victory, No. 5, for the Crackers, who are working like demons fresh from the inferno, administered another shut out to the relicans yesterday, the third since the home stay began. Score, 5 to 0.

It was a strange coincidence, that all of the runs came in one inning just as they did on Thursday. The grand old man of baseball, Three Breitenstein, who was slugged by C. Frank, was broadsided for six hits, two of them doubles, in the opening number and from all this, with a pass thrown in, Atlanta gathered five runs, all that were made during the afternoon.

Breit let them down with two hits at for his explosion, but it was evident that the going was already stowed away, although Breit and the Pelicans worked desperately all the time in an endeavor to cut off the big lead and at the same time to hold the Crackers steady where they were.

But it was not to be. Roy Castleton refused to give up the necessary at the proper time and only in one round did the Birds succeed in shoving a man even as far as the plate. That was in the seventh and Roy yanked himself beautifully out of a deep abyss.

It is true that the New Orleans total was of a goodly number but of what worth are his when they are strangers to each other? Two hits did the enemy produce any together, two in that scary seventh and two in the fourth. Roy was hurling great baseball, the mica in Ponce de Leon soil certainly did not affect his control yesterday, one base on balls was all he uncorked in that line. Five Pelicans were struck in the sphere without connecting and altogether it was a swell performance.

Breit has been doing some valiant work this season and before the gong tapped for the first round to begin, the Crackers had an idea they were up against something strong. A few minutes after the brass sounds had died away on the baseball changed atmosphere, their minds underwent a change. The mighty had fallen; had been shot at places and the gateway and it was all over but to hold the Pelicans safe.

The Terrific Detonation.
That first round that caused mourning in the camp of the enemy and joy in the hearts of the thousands of bugs who assembled for the great going and in their intense interest did not overlook a single incident of the fray began when Becker was safe on an error failing to the lot of the grand old man himself who lost the third and when Becker had shot a hot drive to Sabrie. The sacrificing was left to Ginger Winters and Paekert's single through second put two on the way with Jesse freezing fast to second. Becker, who he did not linger long. Sid Smith gave vent to one of the hits with which his system is ever filled, this one proving a two-bagger to deep right that counted both his mates. Jim Fox was next, and the long one pulled off a performance like unto that of Smith's, save that the double went to center instead of right. Sid scored. Ottor O'Juran drew a pass and Bill Dyer followed him with a single over second that registered Fox. Bill had the poke beaten out, but Gattins tried to get him at first and threw the ball to get the smokers. This had assisted Jim to follow him over, but Sabrie recovered the ball and caught the captain by a whisker at the rubber. Dyer was at second on the play and Ed Sweeney scored him with a single to right. Castleton singled also, and with two on the paths, Becker, who was up for his second time, had the misfortune of fouling out to Milo Stratton and the round was at an end.Pelicans Made Flash.
And that was the run-getting of the afternoon.
In their opening round the Pelicans got a pretty get-away, but it failed to materialize in anything. Jakey Atz was safe on Sid's error, and Manning sacrificed him. Lavey drove a ball to second behind second base that had Sid and Otto doing an Apophone-Gaston act with the result that the ball fell to the earth untouched. Both were anxious to get it, but each thought the other was going to take it when neither did. But he did not get away from second, and a next two went out.
In the seventh Atz singled with one gone and went to second on Manning's single to right. Cross went out from Jordan to Fox and both of them advanced a peg. Then Castleton walked Sabrie and the bases were full, but Phillips shot one to Sid and Sabrie was out at second. The suspense was at an end. As for the Crackers, Breit simply had them loosed for the rest of the way. Becker got a hit in the fourth and Winters one in the seventh and that was all George kiggled in ghoulish glee at Breit's expense when he landed for a clean single, for while Ginger had produced his share in pulling in the victory he had before been unable to get a hit.

Paekert walked in the fifth and was out at second when Smith grounded to third. That was a prelude to one of the two double plays the Birds pulled off. Jim Fox pushed one to Cross and Smith was gone at second, Fox at first.

The other was in the eighth. Fox, grounding to Breit, who caught Sid Smith, misplayed safe, at second and Gattins had Jim at first. That was double play No. 2 Jim had hit into.

The last of the series with New Orleans will be called at 3 o'clock this afternoon with McKenzie on the slab for the Crackers.

President Sullivan, of the Savannah Baseball Club, is authority for the statement that the club made no money during either the season of 1906 or that of 1907. There will be a meeting of the owners of the Savannah team immediately after the league meeting in Charleston this week, when it will be decided what is to be done about next season. It is possible that President Sullivan may relinquish his holdings in the club. Having lost money for two years, he says he is willing to let some one else take a hand at the ownership. The Savannah owners are in favor of the reelection of President Royer at the next meeting of the league. They think that he has made a good president.

MAN BEHIND THE TEAM

BILLY SMITH,
Who Is Pulling Hard for the RagGOOD BASEBALL WEATHER,
SAYS THE FORECASTER"Continued baseball weather" is the unofficial or baseballish way of stating the weather man's forecast for today, but to use the verbiage of the map it is "Continued fair without much change in temperature."
"You see it is like this," he said as he watched the hands of the clock creep towards four yesterday afternoon. "We don't want to interfere with Atlanta winning the pennant, so fair weather is promised the fans tomorrow."
"You have no idea," he continued, "how many times during the forenoon we answer the phone—fan who wants to know 'think-it'll-rain-safeternoon'?"
Everybody is baseball mad, and one poor deluded fanatic called out through the phone today when we told him that it "would be fair Saturday." Well, if we lose do pennant it will be de wedder's fault. "So there you are. If we lose it is the weather's fault, and if we win it's our fault," he said.BOSTON FACES PROBLEM
IN NEW NEGRO SLABMANThe announcement that the Boston National League club has signed a colored pitcher for next season, says The New York Evening World, has already started a little zephyr along the baseball circuit which is liable to develop into a hurricane before Manager Tenney solves the hotel and dining-car problem which stares him in the face.
The fact that baseball is strictly an American game has caused a general resentment against foreigners, except the Irish and German, by players as well as the public. The players will take a man of foreign parentage into the fold with all the welcome that the game offers, but as a rule they make no bump for a foreign-born player that he usually backs out with good grace after the first whirl around the circuit. These affairs have been smoothed over by diplomatic managers, but the employment of this negro from Honolulu is like a match in a powder magazine.
Some ten years or more ago the same things was tried in the National League, but the colored second baseman, who was with Boston, found it so ungenial that he had to quit. The negro infielder who played with the Athletics in 1902, and who signed a contract in the New England League, lasted a little more than a month. Although Joy is a Malay and not a negro, he is as dark as an Ethiopian.
Throughout the circuit of the two leagues the ball clubs stop at hotels which have long since drawn the color line, and therein Manager Tenney is going to have his first trouble. Players always go in pairs, and are so allotted to their rooms, and therein comes another bump. Bill Joy (that is the name of the new pitcher) will have a hard road to travel when it comes to finding a roommate.
Joy managed to get along for a while in "Frisco, and it may be that Tenney got some information out there; but just how he managed it around the hotels is an interesting experience yet.FEW ARBITERS MASTER ART
OF BIG LEAGUE UMPIRINGMajor league umpiring is an art which few—very few—arbiters have mastered. In fact, on the fingers of one hand may be counted the successes of these blue-bloused officials who rule the big athletes and keep the national pastime free from the scandals of other sports.
Only years and years of careful work bring recognition to the umpire, and then the strain of all these battles about prepares the league's official for a more peaceful pastime than being the third party on the diamond. The many umpires is a mysterious being. He never comes to the ball grounds with players of either team. He is usually alone. He crops up, mask and protector in hand, about game time, and the moment the contest is over he is gone. He is not a man of much in the public eye as the idols of a team, yet he is seldom lauded. Few persons see any desirable qualities in an umpire, particularly when the home team is losing. When they are winning, the populace haven't any time to waste on an ordinary umpire—the players get the attention. Yet this quiet, strange person is just as essential to the game today as is the pitcher or catcher. He represents the authority of baseball. He is delegated by the league to conduct a championship game. He is always in touch with the president of his league, and his duty forces him to report any infractions of the rules by manager or player.
He is paid out of the coffers of the league, which is supported by each of the clubs in the league, and out of which the president and secretary draw their stipend. You often hear the query: "How much does Hank O'Day get?" or "How strong is Bill's monthly salary?" You seldom get a satisfactory answer. The reason is the personal contract between the umpire and the league's exclusive. None but the parties of the first and second parties are in on this mystery.
No two umpires are alike, as no two men are exactly alike. All of them have their peculiarities. It is sometimes difficult to recognize the difference of certain arbiters' work from the stands, but among the players the umpire's weak points are instantly noted. If that individual shows any failing—and he is winning, the populace haven't any time to waste on an ordinary umpire—the players get the attention. Yet this quiet, strange person is just as essential to the game today as is the pitcher or catcher. He represents the authority of baseball. He is delegated by the league to conduct a championship game. He is always in touch with the president of his league, and his duty forces him to report any infractions of the rules by manager or player.

PRES. CHAMBERS WANTS
CRACKERS TO TAKE RAGIn a letter to the directors of the Atlanta Club, President Chambers, of Montgomery, offers many good wishes for the Crackers. He states that he has been hoping for the local to defeat Memphis in the race for the pennant and says the Senators will certainly beat them two out of three in the series there and thus help Atlanta to cop the rag.
President Chambers, as the result of hard work this season, has a team that looks good to back up what he says, and Atlanta is counting on it to help in landing the bunting.

Weight Record Broken.

Norfolk, Va., September 6.—The feat today of the Jamestown exposition athletic team was the breaking of the A. A. N. Junior record for the winning throwing the 56 pound weight by P. McDonald, of the Irish-American Club and in the half mile, three second by F. C. Shehen, Boston. The events were closely contested and spectacular, the Irish-American team winning the day's honors on points. The 100 yard dash was won by the 18 year old, 170 lb. Goldhardt and Keatinge. Sullivan's finish in the mile race electrified the big crowd.

D RACE—One mile, selling: Royal 3 (Henry), 8 to 5 won; Clara Russell 116 (Horne), 10 to 1 won; Dugan, 8 to 1 place second; Acrost 95 (G. Burns), 8 to 1 third. Time, 1:38 1-5.

THIRD RACE—One mile and a quarter: Right Royal 111 (Hog), 5 to 2 won; Miss Royal Lad 107 (Sandy), even place second; Caracum 114 (Sany), 30 to 1 third. Time, 2:07.

FOURTH RACE—One mile: Electioneer 118 (Brusell), 7 to 10 won; Kentucky 118 (Miller), even place second; Ampedo 118 (Grand), 7 to 1 show third. Time, 1:40.

FIFTH RACE—The Turf handicap: One mile and three sixteenths: Beacon Light 111 (Miller), 7 to 1 won; Miss Crawford 107 (Dugan), 8 to 1 place second; Acrost 95 (G. Burns), 8 to 1 show third. Time, 1:58.

SIXTH RACE—Six furlongs, selling: Aracum 109 (Miller), 1 to 1 won; Miss Delaney 109 (Brusell), 30 to 1 place second; Gloom 99 (E. Dugan), 4 to 5 third. Time, 1:07.

NOT SAFE YET
BUT IN LEADBilly Smith Still Nervous
While Babb Bites His Lips.

Although pleased over Atlanta's taking the lead, Billy Smith is still on the anxious bench. "We are not out of the danger yet. I can tell you more about this thing this time next week," said he last night.

Anyways, there's rejoicing in the local stronghold today for here's the way we stand:
Won. Lost. Pct.
Atlanta, 73 54 571
Memphis, 72 54 576

And while the day has the power to bring a change, the present is so golden that it should hold us for awhile. Memphis will probably take the lead again for a day or so, but Atlanta looks good for the wind up.

This is the way Babb looks at it: Birmingham, Ala., September 6.—(Special.)—After hearing the result of the Atlanta-New Orleans game, Manager Babb bit his lips. A spirit of gloom settled over the whole bunch.

"It will all depend on our game with Atlanta," Babb grimly stated. "Do not count us out as yet."

Bob Spade will probably work for the Crackers today and against him. Frank will pitch. Manuel, Phillips and Jim are in the bad and he will hardly work in Atlanta.

The game this afternoon will be called at 3 o'clock in order to allow the Pelicans to catch a train for New Orleans, where they play a double-header with Montgomery on Sunday. This will wind up the transferred series and the two teams will rest until Thursday of next week. The battle does not have to end until 5:40 o'clock and that gives ample time for it to be finished, even though extra innings result.

According to The Sporting News, Tom Fisher has been purchased by the St. Louis Americans and Masing goes to the White Sox, Benson to the St. Louis Americans and Graham to the same team. That puts Shreveport up against a loss of four men, but the greatest of all will be Fisher. The Pirates will have to seek a new manager.

The Crackers are arranging their benefit game to occur on Monday after the season closes and it promises to be a great affair. A team composed of the best players in the city will play the Atlanta team and on the roster will be Jim and Ed Laffitte, Perry Lipe and other stars.

Daniel Water For the Stomach

Daniel Mineral Water acts gently upon the Liver, keeps the digestion healthy, and thus lessens the danger of malarial and other fevers. The mineral ingredients it contains keep the Stomach toned up and the Kidneys flushed, thereby safely overcoming or entirely avoiding the diseases peculiar to the sickly summer season.

For Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Constipation, and all Stomach, Bladder or Intestinal troubles, Daniel Water is far superior to any on the market. It is an alkaline—not a salt or sulphur water. Is pleasant, palatable and light, and its good effects upon the general health are noticeable from the beginning of its use.

If you are in doubt about the water you are drinking and want an absolutely pure spring water, order a case of Daniel Water and avoid all danger of taking into your system the germs of Typhoid and other dangerous fevers.

THIRTY THOUSAND TELEGRAPH
Operators Wanted

Great Opportunity for Young Men and Women to Learn Telegraphy.

By reason of the fact that thousands of miles of new railroad are now being completed, and congress having passed a bill requiring railroad companies not to work telegraph operators more than nine hours a day, which will necessitate making three shifts in every twenty-four hours, about THIRTY THOUSAND more telegraph operators than can be secured will be needed in a few months. Salaries have been increased, and the chances for promotion for telegraph operators were never better.

Draughton Gets Busy.
Draughton's Practical Business College Company has been induced by railroad officials to establish Telegraphy Departments in several of its colleges. Railroad wires are being cut into these colleges by railroad companies giving students main-line practice. Practical telegraph operators of many years' experience have been employed as teachers. Special inducement is being made to students who enter for Telegraphy now.

For booklet on Telegraphy and Railroad, giving reasons why you should learn Telegraphy, showing great opportunities for promotion for the telegraph operator, giving rates of tuition, etc., call on or address Draughton's Practical Business College, Atlanta, 122 Peachtree street, Piedmont Hotel block.

SCHOOL BOYS ARE DROWNED

Teacher Let Them Go Home,
But They Went Swimming.

Sweetwater, Tenn., September 6.—John McMahan, aged 7, son of Jeff McMahan, and James Brewster, aged 12, asked permission of their school teacher at noon yesterday to go home and do some chores.

They had not reached home late in the afternoon, and a search was instituted, which resulted in finding their clothes on the bank of a pond near there. It is supposed they had gone in bathing, and being unable to swim, were drowned.

Their bodies were recovered late last night.

SOULE VISITS GOVERNOR SMITH

President of Agricultural College at Athens Very Optimistic.

Dr. A. M. Soule, president of the new $100,000 Agricultural college, located on the new campus of the University of Georgia, at Athens, yesterday called on Commissioner of Agriculture T. H. Hudson and Governor Smith with whom he discussed the coming opening of the college.

Dr. Soule did not appear concerned as to where the money was to come from with which to operate this college, in that no appropriation for its maintenance was asked in the general appropriations bill passed recently.

After a lengthy conversation with the governor, Dr. Soule expressed himself as satisfied that arrangements could be made whereby the necessary support could be had for this year and that the legislature would see to it, in future, that it did not lack support.

It is generally believed that the governor will borrow $50,000 with which to run this college this year and that it will be reimbursed when the legislature meets next year.

"We will not be able to get into our buildings for a year or so yet," said Dr. Soule, yesterday, "but when we do, we will be in an ideal spot and with the best possible equipment. The foundations for the buildings are now being laid. This year we are going to make an educational campaign before the planters of the state and hope that this will be productive of much and great good. I have no fear for the immediate and ultimate success of the college."

NEGRO KILLS

A CONDUCTOR

In a Dispute About a Five-Cent Street Car Fare.

Birmingham, Ala., September 6.—As the result of a dispute over the payment of a 5-cent car fare, an unknown negro drew a murderous knife from his pocket and stabbed Frank R. Burnett, a conductor on the South Ensey line early today, while the car was approaching Hilltop station. The wounded man sank to the car floor and died almost instantly, the blade of the knife having penetrated the region of his heart.

The murderer sprang from the moving car and fled through the woods. John Williams, colored, was later arrested on suspicion of being the murderer. He was apprehended on a North Ensey car returning to Birmingham.

THEY WANTED

TO KILL WHITES

So Negroes Organized "Befo" Club and Procured Weapons.

Quitman, Ga., September 6.—(Special.) The little town of Barwick, located on the line of Brooks and Thomas counties, has been thrown into a fever of excitement on account of the accidental unearthing of one of the "Befo" Day clubs which are said to prevail in this section. Randall Thomas, a negro, who, it is said, was drunk at the time, met a white man on the road and insisted on the white man shaking hands with his left hand. The man passed on and reported the matter to the marshal, from Thomas.

Thomas' excuse for his action was that he thought the man was a member of the club and he wanted to give him the grip. After considerable persuasion the whole story was drawn from Thomas.

The club, he said, was organized several months ago by a negro from Valdosta and the object was to kill out the white people in the community so that the members could have a settlement of their own. At a meeting recently held $50 was subscribed to buy Winchester rifles and cartridges for the members. Norris Brandon was president and the rifles were to be shipped to him from Macon. The first man to be killed was Tim Brice, Jr., and his son, and then others were to be killed. The club had a regular meeting place and always met between 12 o'clock and day.

School Election in Ben Hill.

Fitzgerald, Ga., September 6.—(Special.) At the election held in Ben Hill county yesterday on the adoption of the local taxation for public schools, the voters decided by a vote of 173 to 31 in its favor. The small vote was due to the fact that Fitzgerald was not allowed to vote on account of being an independent district. The adoption of this cannot fail to be of great benefit to the country schools.

FOES DEFIED

BY FORAKER

Senator Says That He Proposes to Fight to a Finish.

Columbus, Ohio, September 6.—Senator Foraker today made an address before the farmers, old soldiers and others at the state fair.

"The opposition to me here in Ohio," said the senator, "is because some of them want to get my seat in the United States senate, and I propose, if I can help it, that they shall not be successful in that matter. I have voted as far as light was given to me in the interests of my constituents and as my own judgment dictated, and I propose to keep on in that course. I do not propose to be dictated to by any one as to the way I shall vote and if my constituents do not like that, they may elect some one else to do the voting for them."

BRENAU OPENS SOON.

Largest Attendance in Years Expected at College.

Gainesville, Ga., September 6.—(Special.)—Brenau college opens September 12, and the largest attendance in the history of the institution is already assured. Applications have already been received from twenty-five states, including those as far away as Iowa, in the northwest, and Massachusetts, in the northeast. Three parties have been formed, one of which will start from Cincinnati, a second from Shreveport and a third from New Orleans. All of these parties will meet in Atlanta on the 11th and take a special car for Gainesville.

This will probably be the largest movement of students that has ever taken place in the south. While there are some state institutions that have a larger attendance than Brenau, there is no institution in this section, at least, that draws its patronage from such a wide area.
